THE LATEST NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Mr. B. E. Hutchinson, of Wisconsin, who left Washington on Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, kindly called upon us yesterday, with details of the latest news.

The Seventh Regiment of New-York, arrived in Washington on Thursday noon, having marched twenty miles to the Junction, and that without escort. They were, in fact, the pioneers of the route, and went because they had made up their minds to go any way.

The Eighth Massachusetts Regiment, meanwhile, had been at work repairing the railroad and engines, and arrived at Annapolis soon after the Seventh, having laid the rails, repaired the engine, and run the train.

The Seventy-first Regiment of New-York also marched 20 miles from Annapolis to the Junction. The road was, however, open from Annapolis to Washington, and troops were going as rapidly as possible.

Col. Lawrence's regiment had 15 minutes' notice to leave Annapolis, and were ready within the specified time.

The conduct of the Eighth Massachusetts Regiment is deserving of the greatest praise. When Gen. Butler asked if any of them could sail the Constitution, fifty-four men stepped from the ranks, one of whom was the son of the man who built her!

A similar incident occurred when the General called for mechanics to put the dislocated engine together. One stalwart Yankee stepped from the ranks and said, "Well, General, I rather think I can—I made that engine;" and in two hours the engine was at work drawing trains with the troops toward Washington. The efficacy of the stalwart six-footers with which the regiment abounds, was a most fortunate thing for the vast body of troops concentrating there.

Mr. Hutchinson saw the Seventh Regiment marching to the White House, amid the unbounded enthusiasm of the people. He also saw the Eighth Massachusetts, the Seventy-first of New-York, and Gov. Sprague's Rhode Island troops, en route for the Capital. He left Washington on Thursday at 3 o'clock, and says the delay is only from four to six hours from going round Baltimore—the boat occupying that time in going from Annapolis to Perryville, opposite Havre de Grace.

Mr. Hutchinson denies in toto the statement that Southern troops are in the vicinity of Washington. He has seen numbers of men who had been at Alexandria, and did not see any Secessionist troops there.

Gen. Butler, commanding the forces at Annapolis, says that if the Maryland Legislature passes an ordinance of secession, he will arrest the entire body!

THE LATETT NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Harrisburgh, Friday, April 26.

Large numbers of Virginians arrived here to-night via Chambersburgh. They were required to take a test oath to take up arms or be imprisoned. They took the oath, and were compelled then to escape.

Others had escaped without taking the oath; most of whom were from Fairfax County.

John McElhone, a well-known Congressional reporter, arrived here to-night from Washington, as bearer of Government dispatches. He left Washington yesterday, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and reports that Washington is safe for the present.

Communication with Annapolis has been perfectly opened.

He confirms the recent advices that the Seventh Regiment of New-York and other forces have safely arrived.

Large quantities of flour are deposited at the Capitol.

Virginians here say that fully 15,000 troops in that State are under arms.

LATEST OFFICIAL ADVICES.

Harrisburg, Friday, April 26.

Official advices received to-night from Washington, show that 4,000 Northern troops entered the city before 4 o'clock yesterday. There was an abundance of provisions following.

Perfect security is felt relative to defence.

The Keystone State, escorted by the Pawnee, passed up the Potomac without molestation, and reached Washington on Wednesday night, landed 250 marines and soldiers, and left Wednesday night, destination unknown. No attempt was made to interrupt her progress.

One of the arrivals here to-night is that of a native of Virginia, formerly an officer in the Federal House of Representatives. He is a Democrat of the Breckinridge school, and brought the title deeds of his estate with him. He expects his property, which is worth $40,000, to be confiscated.

He reports that every man is compelled to serve or leave.

LATE FROM WASHINGTON DIRECT.

INTELLIGENCE OF THE STEAMERS CARRYING THE SIXTY-NINTH, EIGHTH AND THIRTEENTH REGIMENTS, AND THE WASHINGTON GRAYS AND ARTILLERY.

The steamer Keystone State, direct from Washington, arrived here at noon, yesterday, bring'ng as passengers, Col. Bonneville, of the United States Army, and Gen. Twitchell and Seth Bryant, Esq., both of Boston, and Mr. Parrott, member of Congress from Kansas, bound home. The Keystone State left Washington on Wednesday, afternoon at 4 o'clock, and brings some forty or fifty bags of mail matter for the North and East, all of which is in charge of Gen. Twitchell. She also brings the dispatches and instructions from Government to Mr. Adams, our newly appointed Minister to London. The Keystone State has two Companies of United States marines on board, and is well armed and was well provided to resist any attack that might be made on her, but she met with no interruption on her passage down the Potomac.

Mr. Bryant has gone to Philadelphia on business connected with the War Department.

The Keystone State met with no interruption on her passage down the Potomac. She brought as passengers Col. Bonneville, U. S. Army, Gen. Twichell, Seth Bryant, Esq., and Mr. Perrot, the member of Congress from Kansas, on his way home. The Keystone State is now at the Navy-yard, Brooklyn.

Mr. Bryant states that when on his way to Washington on Friday night last, the train stopped on reaching the first burning bridge. He jumped from the car and walked across the country to the next station beyond, though the night was quite dark; on arriving there he found a party of men with a cannon, with which they said they intended to kill off the New-York Regiment. He told them the regiment (the Seventh) was the pet of the New-Yorkers, and that any injury to it would straightway bring one hundred thousand armed men upon them; but they paid little heed to his remarks, only saying they had twenty thousand men in Baltimore.

Mr. Bryant obtained a carriage, which conveyed him to the Camden Street Station, Baltimore. Being too late for the morning train to Washington, he went about the city to some extent, and incidentally heard of the killing of the two Massachusetts soldiers. Being a Bostonian, he naturally inquired the particulars and where the bodies were. On receiving the answer that they were at the Guard-house, he desired to know if he could see or get them.

He was then told if he said any more about the matter he would be likely to leave his body with them, and in deference to their numbers he kept his tongue still. He took the next train to Washington.

Mr. Bryant says the feeling in Washington was, that on the arrival of the New-York Regiments the Capital would be safe beyond a doubt. Not a man of them had reached Washington when he left.

Federal troops were reported to have occupied Arlington Heights, opposite Georgetown.

The Keystone State left Washington at 4 P. M. of Wednesday. Many people were seen on the wharves at Alexandria, but they made no demonstration.

No guns were to be seen on the Virginia side of the Potomac, and it is probable that the rumors about batteries at the White House (below Mount Vernon) and at Indian Head are unfounded.

In reference to the Mr. Davis who was killed at Baltimore, Mr. Bryant says he himself heard from the lips of Baltimoreans that Mr. Davis threw a stone striking the very soldier who subsequently shot him.

OUR WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Washington, Wednesday, April 24, 1861.

A deputation of sixteen Virginians and eight Marylanders visited the President on Monday, and demanded a cessation of hostilities until after the session of Congress. Mr. Lincoln of course declined the proposition. One of the deputation said that 75,000 Marylanders would contest the passage of troops over her soil; to which the President replied that he presumed there was room enough on her soil to bury 75,000 men. The answer was prompt and decided.

There are 5,400 men at Annapolis, including the Seventh Regiment. The Government has possession of the railroad to Annapolis, and the troops occupy the city. It is said that 2,200 Maryland troops are mustered to oppose the passage of the Seventh.

Their will be no march toward this city from Annapolis until sufficient force is congregated there to make their passage over Maryland perfectly safe.

Corcoran, the Banker, to-day, offered a large amount of gold to the Government, if the latter would give him drafts on New-York. Treasurer Skinner told him if he had any gold, he must fight for its protection. The Government would not do it for him.

Dr. Garnett, a son-in-law of Henry A. Wise, has sent his wife and family to the North for safety.

A large number of Virginians are in this city, who have been driven out of the State because they would not take the oath of allegiance to the State.

The coolest thing yet proposed to Government was that made by Gov. Hicks and Gov. Letcher, that they would jointly guarantee the safety of the Capital. The Government declined such protection, probably very much to the disgust of the twin rebels of Virginia and Maryland.

I met to-night a gentleman who was compelled to flee from North Carolina. He says the Secessionists are carrying all before them, without reference to law or order. They have driven off many people who do not sympathize in the movement, and had threatened loudly to mob and hang Ex-Gov. Gilmer, who is persistently resisting the tide of passion.

There are several hundred workmen at work at Richmond in the manufacture of arms, &c., for the States of Virginia and North Carolina.

The news of the general uprising of the people in the North to defend the Government, has had a good effect here to-day.

The New-York Saturday papers reached here to-day, and were eagerly caught up.

The Keystone State arrived here to-day, accompanied by the Pawnee with 400 marines on board, and some artillery. The tops of the buildings were covered by people anxiously looking for the arrival of the expected fleet with a large number of reinforcements.

The news of the approach of so many troops has been greeted with general rejoicing and enthusiasm throughout the city,—very many people will watch for their approach through the night.

The most extravagant reports of the collection of an army of Secessionists in Virginia, who are expected to attack Washington, are current on the streets to-night. No one knows the facts, however, concerning their movements.

There has been less excitement and apprehension to-day than at any time since Friday. This is occasioned by favorable reports concerning Federal troops, and the general impression that Virginia is not yet ready, and does not intend, at present, to attack the Capital.

Very many people have left the city during the past few days, and this afternoon a large company had assembled at the dépôt for the purpose of leaving town, but were stopped by the Government, which has seized all the cars and engines for the conveyance of troops, and taken possession of all the railroads approaching the city. This is done both as a matter of precaution and convenience.

The people who expected to leave to-day for West and North, were much surprised to find the dépôt, even, closed against them. A guard is now stationed about it and along the line of the road as far as Annapolis Junction.

The Government intends, soon as possible, to take possession as far as Havre de Grace, and if necessary, beyond that point.

A report reached the Government to-day, that the Seventh New-York Regiment and Massachusetts Eighth were near the Junction, and a squad of twenty-five men, under Capt. Smead, of the National Rifles, were dispatched to the Junction by special train to guard the road and escort the troops.

They arrived at the Junction and examined the track about half a mile beyond, which they found torn up in several places. They took possession of the Junction dépôt, and stationed a guard. A messenger soon arrived, who told them that Col. Butler and Col. Lefferts, with 5,500 men, including parks of artillery and companies of cavalry and dragoons, were at Annapolis, awaiting the advice of the Government whether they should come by water or land march.

A messenger to Annapolis has been sent by the Government three successive days, two of whom have been unable to reach the place, and have been driven back by the Secessionists, and one of whom has not yet been heard from. It is hoped that he has reached the point of destination and executed his orders. One additional was sent this morning—not yet heard from.

Upon the return of the National Rifle Guard from the Junction, another messenger was dispatched. His orders are, of course, not publicly known.

The Commissary of the Seventh New-York Regiment was sent back last night, but has gone again to-night to attempt the passage again.

The troops are confidently expected some time to-night or to-morrow morning.

The troops now in the city are in fine spirits, and amply provided for by the Government.

Several volunteer associations have been formed to aid in their comfort and relief.

Capt. Dunnington, captain of the Capitol Police, resigned to-day for political reasons. Had he failed to do so, he would have been discharged.

Beef advanced to-day three cents per pound. There is no fear of a scarcity of flour, as so much has been seized by the Government that it can be purchased in limited quantities by each at cost to Government. This was done to prevent speculation and oppression of the poor. Teams are employed in large force day and night carrying it to the Capitol, where most of it is stored.

There is beginning to be much trouble with District money on account of the suspension of communication and exchange with New-York.

Owing to the combined difficulties of exchanges and transportation, many of the most responsible citizens are prevented from sending their families out of the city. Very few loyal men desire to leave the District, but the presence of the women and children is a great obstacle to those who desire to fight and are willing to die for the Government.

In consequence of the large supply of flour held by the Government market, rates have declined to $10 per barrel.

There is a reported riot at Alexandria to-day. A large company of Union men, women and children, arrived here to-day from that place, driven out by the merciless Secessionists. Some of them came away without even clothing sufficient to cover them, the women and children without bonnets, shawls, &c. The excitement at the time they left had ran very high there.

A large number of Union men have arrived here, being compelled to flee hither for personal safety.

CASSIUS M. CLAY'S BATTALION.

The following is the Muster Roll of the Washington Clay Battalion, under command of Major Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, quartered at Willard's Hotel, Washington:

LATEST FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

Philadelphia, Friday, April 26.

I have just arrived from Annapolis, which place I left at 8 o'clock last evening. Most of the middies at the Naval Academy have been sent to New-York in the Constitution, which sailed for New-York last night. Their quarters are occupied by the troops.

The grounds of the Academy are now a military camp. Gen. Butler is in a command for which he is eminently qualified, as his conduct has already proved. He has seized upon the railroad between Annapolis and Washington, and it is guarded with troops. The track has been relaid, and communication is now open with the Capital.

Owing to the blockade of the Port and the seizure of the railroad, no provisions can be brought into Annapolis, and the inhabitants apprehend famine. The leading hotel was unable, yesterday morning, to furnish breakfast for myself and a friend, and we were obliged to scout around town for a meal. Flour has been sold at $20 per barrel. The troops have provisions in plenty, and this irritates the inhabitants. Not a Union flag is to be seen, nor did I hear one loyal sentiment uttered in the City. They blame the North for all their troubles, and express intense hatred towards the troops.

The troops arriving are moved on as fast as possible. The New-York Seventh Regiment, at last accounts, was en route for Washington, with several other Regiments. It was reported that the Secessionists would give them a running fight on the march, but this is not probable.

The list of troops landed at Annapolis, and their whereabouts, given below, is taken from Gen. Butler's official dispatch to Gen. Patterson, and may be relied upon as correct:

EN ROUTE FOR WASHINGTON.

Seventh Regiment, of New-York.
Twelfth Regiment, of New-York.
Seventy-first Regiment, of New-York.
Fifth Regiment, of Massachusetts.
Eighth Regiment, of Massachusetts.
Fourth and fifth Regiments, or Pennsylvania.
First Battalion of Rifles, of Rhode Island.
Tenth Regiment of Rhode Island.

RETAINED AT ANNAPOLIS.

First Massachusetts Company of Light Artillery, numbering 100 men.
Third Company of the Massachusetts Rifle Battalion, numbering 246 men.
Sixth Regiment, of New-York, 750 strong.

This gives an aggregate of 7,750 men who have reported at Annapolis, to Gen. Butler. The body of them are at Washington, or soon will be, as the railroad communication is open and guarded.

Gen. Butler has left no steps untaken to secure the safety of his position. Last night he took possession of the Heights opposite Annapolis, and commanding the city. With the battery there that to-morrow's sun will see, he can destroy the city at an hour's notice.

Gen. Scott expresses himself perfectly secure of holding the Capital. The troops will encounter no danger on their transit, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

Our Seventh have forced admiration even from the Secessionists.

Mr. T. Rawlings, formerly of your City, informs me that he was obliged to fly with his family, leaving even his baggage behind him. Another gentleman, Mr. J. B. Schonmaker, states that he was dragged from his bed at midnight by armed men, who presented guns at his head and drove him out of the city.

The Maryland Legislature meets to-day, at Frederick, instead of at Annapolis, owing to the latter place being occupied by troops.

It is reported in Baltimore that the New-York Seventh say they will never fire on the Baltimore City Guard, whatever the provocation. The boys of the Seventh say this is a mistake.

The Seventh and other Regiments, five thousand strong, were near Annapolis Junction at noon yesterday. They marched on the railroad track with cannon and howitzers in regular columns, extending over one mile in length. The Marylanders are much excited by the event, but confess that the march of the troops is quiet and orderly, and that no insults are offered to individuals, nor violence to property.

No obstacles of any moment were thrown in the way of the advance of the troops.

The few facts given above may be relied on as authentic. Military movements at present are kept so secret that even the Colonels of the Regiments know neither when nor where they are to march until the order comes. In this dearth of information the busy reporters button-hole the recruits and telegraph their crude speculations as official intelligence. Thus the Seventh Regiment, of New-York, has been repeatedly reported as being at Washington, while it was holding the railroad seven or eight miles out of Annapolis. It is probably in Washington by this time, but the fact is not certainly known.

C. H. W.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

A gentlemen, just arrived from Annapolis, states that the Seventh Regiment of New-York positively reached Washington on Wednesday evening. The Seventy-first, Sixth and Twelfth Regiments of New-York left Annapolis for the Capital on the same day. The Massachusetts Eighth hold the railroad open.

An imperative necessity exists for concentrating a strong force this side of Baltimore. A number of transports on the Chesapeake Bay have 32-pounders mounted, and are commanded by naval officers. The dispatch in the Herald of this morning, stating that an immediate attack upon Washington was anticipated, is all false.

IMPORTANT FROM MARYLAND.

OUR DISPATCHES FROM PERRYVILLE.

Perryville, Friday, April 26.

The steamer Maryland arrived here at 2 o'clock this morning from Annapolis, bringing several naval officers en route for Wilmington. They report that at least four thousand troops arrived at Annapolis day before yesterday, including some who left New-York on Sunday.

The Seventh Regiment had gone on up the road towards Annapolis Junction, repairing the railroads as it advanced, and it is believed got to Washington yesterday. The Twelfth Regiment followed.

The officers say that Gen. Butler is still at Annapolis in command.

Nothing had been seen or heard of any piratical craft.

S.

Perryville, Md., Friday, April 26.

The Baltimore Sun says a train started for Washington yesterday afternoon. When it reached Annapolis Junction, the Federal troops were found lining the road, and put back, apprehending seizure.

The Seventh Regiment, of New-York, and part of the Massachusetts Volunteers, took up the line of march from Annapolis early on Wednesday morning, and arrived at the Junction at 10 yesterday morning. They left for Washington, and the train returned. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the train again left with the Massachusetts regiment. On the arrival of the Seventh Regiment at Washington they marched up the Avenue to the President's house, and thence to the War Department.

The steamship Jamestown has been fitted up at Richmond for war purposes.

There will be 25,000 volunteers at Richmond by the close of the week.

The schooner Annie J. Russell, with wheat, at Richmond, for a Massachusetts port, has been seized.

It is reported that the troops at Harper's Ferry have been ordered to some other point, supposed to be near the capital.

The Baltimore Sun has a leader which seems to indicate that the conservative influence is gaining ground in that city. It emphatically declares that it is not a secession paper. It says that the passage of an ordinance of secession by the Legislature would be an arrogation of power not vested in it. It favors calling a State Convention, the Delegates to be elected directly from the people. It denies the stories of violence to Union men at Baltimore.

There is very little news.

The Sun's leader of to-day is regarded as a most favorable index of future events.

A gentleman declared publicly in the parlor of Barnum's Hotel that the secession flag will not be allowed to remain in that city many days.

Most indisputable evidences have been received to-night of a reaction in the public sentiment of Baltimore.

A gentleman, whose veracity cannot be doubted, states that, before he left this morning, he was gratified to see the "Stars and Stripes" flying over the "Minute Men's Head-quarters," and on "Butchers' Hill."

The silence of the Union men seems to have been more powerful than clamor, and the rabid Secessionists have defeated their own purposes.

There is a great feeling among business men for the reëstablishment of trade, and silent conservatism is changing gradually to open Unionism. There is no doubt as to this state of affairs.

There was not much news of importance.

A passenger reports that he had heard nothing of the rumors of Lord Lyons appealing to President Lincoln for sixty days' armistice.

He saw the arrival of the Seventh Regiment, at one o'clock in the afternoon of his departure. All well.

The Seventh built the bridge on the road and repaired the rails.

While the Massachusetts Eighth were moving to Washington, orders were received to stop at the junction and guard that point.

Perryville, Friday, April 26.

Among the passengers going North in to-night's train are five Maine lumber-men, ordered out of Virginia. They report that three schooners—the General Knox, Victory and Georgia, of Maine—were seized in Pakumpka River, Va. Cannon were placed aboard the General Knox, and the secession flag hoisted. The Maine men were ordered to leave by Col. Lee on Saturday, and placed under guard. They obtained a pass from Gov. Letcher out of the State. They were interrupted frequently, being intercepted by troops at Baltimore. They appealed to Gen. Trimble personally, who expressed regret that the travelers were interfered with, and protected their departure. Intelligent men from Baltimore express their confidence that the secession rule will soon be overruled.

SPECIAL DISPATCH FROM HAGERSTOWN.

Hagerstown, Friday, April 26.

The statement is current here that on Tuesday Gen. Scott wrote to Gov. Hicks, declaring the route to Annapolis a military road, and that upon any resistance he would make Annapolis a desert. Orders were at once given by the State authorities to change the place of holding the Legislature to Frederick, and it was expected to assemble to day.

From the difficulties in Baltimore, the secession of Maryland was supposed to be inevitable; but the news of the rapid swarming of Northern troops upon the Maryland line has modified public sentiment in the past two days, and many Secessionists of three days since now advocate the armed neutrality of the State, and Union men are more hopeful in the belief of being sustained by Northern troops, and are speaking more boldly.

Allighany and Washington Counties are believed to be strong for the Union. I have even seen one old gentleman who had the boldness to announce himself a Republican in a crowd, but these instances are very rare. Caution seems to be the rule of action on the part of Union men, though there are but few Secessionists here.

No flags of any kind are flying here.

A special messenger has just arrived from Hughes' Ferry, stating that Gen. Harney, of Missouri, was last night arrested at that point and carried to Richmond in irons. I have no confidence in this, but the messenger states that he was thus informed last night.

THE CONSERVATIVE SENTIMENT RISING.

Philadelphia, Friday, April 26.

A private letter from Baltimore says that the city is quiet again; that troops are passing from Annapolis to Washington without interruption; that there seems to be no desire or intention to interfere; that the conservative sentiment is predominating again, and that all feel more hopeful of peace to-day.

The Evening American, of Baltimore, has been received.

It is rumored that the Government has a detachment of troops protecting the workmen who are repairing the bridges on the Philadelphia Railroad east of the Susquehanna. It will be open for mails and travel only.

It is believed that a quorum of the Legislature cannot assemble at Frederick on Friday.

The Banks are preparing to issue small notes to be authorized by the Legislature.

A large schooner from New-York, towed by a tug, was brought to by a shot from Fortress Monroe, which passed through the tug. The cargo was seized. It consisted of military stores for Virginia, and a full Light Artillery battery.

The Petersburgh Express says there are 10,000 troops at Richmond; 4,000 at Harper's Ferry, and 3,500 at Norfolk, including 250 from Georgia.

It is stated that Jeff. Davis will issue no letters of marque until after the meeting of Congress, (29th.)

OUR ANNAPOLIS CORRESPONDENCE.

Near Annapolis, Tuesday, April 23, 1861.

As the Harriet Lane approaches the roadstead at Annapolis, escorting the Columbia, Cuyler, Baltic and Coatzacoalcos, let "Jasper" once more take up his pen, and endeavor to paint the superb scene of three thousand soldiers, the pride of New-York City, marching to defend the National Capital, animated by but one heroic impulse. To make the picture complete, let me detail it from the moment of departure, at 7 P. M. on Sunday last. At that hour the noble Columbia, under the command of Capt. Sam Whiting, having effaced from her bow the useless emblem, motto of a State which has been a fearful curse to the Union, raised at her peak a new flag, resplendent in starry beauty, and, with the "S. and T." at the main, and the blue and white of the Union Jack at the fore, proudly sailed forth, amid a perfect ovation of cheers, ringing of bells, rockets, &c. The Sixth Regiment, under command of Col. Pinckney, responded with throbbing hearts; and thus departing, each man a host in himself, we sailed down the Bay. A tug hastened after us, with instructions to wait for two brass howitzers and the Naval Brigade. They also brought the welcome tidings of the safe arrival of the Seventh in Washington, and the opening of the route to the capital by the Massachusetts troops stationed at Annapolis. The Baltic with the Twelfth Regiment, under Col. Butterfield, have preceded us by several hours; but the Cuyler, with the Seventy-first, and the Coatzacoalcos, with the men of Rhode Island, kept company during the night and the greater part of the next day. The German element is strong in the Sixth, and, as every one knows, the Germans are among the most cheerful people on the face of the earth. Although many a heart was heaving with perhaps an eternal parting with all most dear to them, yet they bore it bravely, and you only saw the steel outside. It is no easy matter to feed 600 men at a table which will only hold fifty, but it was attempted the first night with most ludicrous accompaniments. Many a gentleman that night, wearied of waiting, returned to first principles, and pitched in, as though knives and forks had never been invented. As too, there were comparatively few beds, the major part bivouacked on deck under a mellow moon, which threw into brilliant relief their polished muskets, all well bayoneted. Those who feared the night air, laid down on the floor of the cabins—in fact, laid down everywhere, so that when I took a look at the horizontal mass at midnight, it seemed as though legs were as thick as ants.

To fill up the Regiment, a number of recruits, very fresh men, were taken, and these have been incessantly drilled on the voyage. A general sea-sickness pervaded the troops on Monday, yet they bore up manfully against it, with very pale faces, yet firm hearts. This day, Tuesday, every one is well, and the scene has been a most stirring one. As we sailed without specific instructions from Washington, we expected to meet the Pawnee at Hampton Roads, with directions to proceed either direct to Washington or up the Chesapeake to Annapolis. As we made Cape Henry the Harriet Lane opened her ports and beat to quarters. Finding no barrier there, we sailed along until at 10½ A. M., the entire fleet came together mid-way between Old and New Point Comfort. The scene that ensued cannot be described; the morning was delicious, and as the Baltic neared us, the band of the Twelfth struck up "Hail Columbia." The Coatzacoalcos caught the soul-inspiring air, and the Rhode Island band sent forth on the balmy air, the "Star Spangled Banner." Amid the most enthusiastic cheers, and the wildest throbbings of three thousand soldiers' hearts, the Colonel of our Regiment addressed his men. He alluded very forcibly and feelingly to the anticipated danger that they might be called upon to meet at any moment. He urged them under every circumstance to stand by the flag presented to them by the Corporation of the City of New-York. "If any of you falter," said the Colonel, "you will be instantly shot down, and if I falter, I hope you will put a thousand bullets through my heart at once." Every officer and soldier responded with a most enthusiastic "aye" to these remarks, which were delivered in a calm, inflexible and determined way. Col. Pinckney evidently meant all he said, and at each telling point every soldier's heart throbbed audibly beneath his cross-belts.

During the entire afternoon, there have been apprehensions of an attack, and the most ample preparations have been made to meet it. The men have been drilled constantly, and the Engineers have been repeatedly worked at the howitzers. These brass pieces throw canister shot, each one containing one hundred and fifty bullets. For a close encounter, or a street fight, they will do terrible execution.

At 2 P. M., the New-York Volunteer Naval Brigade were sworn in on the forecastle. These men are being recruited by Washington A. Bartlett. There are twenty-two of them on board. The following is the oath:

> The undersigned hereby enroll themselves as members in Company A of the N. Y. V. N. B., and swear to support the Constitution of the United States, the laws and the Union, and also swear to obey all orders issued by the same, and hold themselves in readiness for service as minute men afloat or ashore.

The Pawnee has failed to meet us either at the Roads or at the mouth of the Potomac. The lightship at the mouth of the Rappahannock has been taken up, and we expect at any moment to have a brush. Ten rounds have been given out to each man, and if a fight comes, the Sixth Regiment N. Y. S. Militia, are perfectly ready to meet it. The men are all sturdy fellows, accustomed to physical labor, and think but little of privations. The Staff is composed of Americans, and it would be difficult to find a more gentlemenly set of men. New-York may rest assured that the men of the Sixth have gone into service fully alive to what is expected of them, and when the battle does come, they will be found in the thickest of the fray. Let the Empire City, whose arms they bear on their Regimental Flag, remember the helpless ones they have left behind, and let the City respond to their wants as promptly as the Sixth have to their country's call to arms.

My next will be from Washington, from the head-quarters of the pets of our City, the Seventh Regiment.

JASPER.

Annapolis Roads, Wednesday, April 24, 1861.

At 10 o'clock last evening the Harriet Lane gave orders for the fleet to anchor. Shortly after Capt. Faunce came on board, and brought the startling intelligence that Capt. Pendergrast had saved the Cumberland, and escaped from Norfolk, after another Harper's Ferry coup de main. We were also startled by the intelligence that the gallant Seventh were not in Washington, as positively stated in New-York just as we left, but that they were still at Annapolis, where the track was torn up for eighteen miles. We learned that they, with the Massachusetts troops, were determined to relay the entire track at once. The Seventh can do anything they are determined to do, and with such men as those from the old Bay State they will carry it through. All last night rockets were going up on the Virginia shore of the Chesapeake, and the mad Secessionists there are doubtless fully posted up on our movements. This morning we were called up early to greet another detachment from Massachusetts in the Ariel, and shortly after the De Soto made her appearance, and received another warm reception. We learn this morning that Gen. Beauregard is at Richmond with 19,000 men, ready to precipitate the attack on Washington that I warned the Cabinet against last week. The rumor seems incredible. If it is circulated to terrify us, they have mistaken altogether the game. With the arrival of the Ariel and De Soto this morning, and also of three screw-propellers, filled with men, the force is now increased to nearly 10,000 determined fellows, who will fight their way to Washington at any and every hazard. "Old Ironsides" is near us, with her ports thrown open, and her heavy brass pieces gleaming in the brilliant sunshine. The scene is inspiring and glorious in the extreme. Not a shadow of fear rests on a single heart. Only one purpose moves the 10,000—Victory! absolute and positive, which must and will crown our flag.

I wish here to thank Capt. Sam. Whiting and Mr. Mather, the Purser, for their many courtesies. Ready to rough it, I have improvised a couch in the office on the regimental ammunition boxes. They insisted, however, upon my accepting one of the reserved state rooms, and have done everything to make the Times Correspondent's stay agreeable. Let me recommend them warmly to the representatives of the Press.

Later.—Two officers of the Constitution have just come on board. They inform me that there was great alarm felt on the Constitution, after they heard of the attack of the "Plug-Uglies" at Baltimore. They were fast aground, and feared that before they could get their guns out, they would be attacked. They had arranged to burn the glorious "Old Ironsides" rather than to have her fall into the hands of the traitors; but, fortunately, they have had her tugged out, and she is now safe, four miles from the city. Four companies of the Massachusetts detachment are quartered on her—two of Zouaves, one of sappers and miners and one of Grays. Lieut. Rogers, of the Constitution, has been made Commander for bringing out the ships safely. Twenty-five of the middies at the Naval Academy resigned yesterday. There are about two hundred still there.

Later Still.—Another officer of the Constitution has just greeted me. He states that batteries have been erected all along the Potomac by the Virginians, and that there is one planted just below Washington. If we had attempted to go direct to Washington he thinks we would have had a terrible fight. The revenue cutter off Annapolis seized a powder ship yesterday, intended for the Secessionists. Martial law will shortly be declared at Annapolis. The men there were Union, but now they are wavering, and the presence of so many troops there alone keeps them from new acts of violence. Provisions are becoming very scarce, as Baltimore has stopped sending them supplies, and they will have to rely on New-York hereafter.

JASPER.

Wednesday Midnight, April 24, 1861.

We have been delayed off Annapolis as we were at New-York. After waiting the entire day for orders Col. Pinckney went ashore and consulted Col. Keyes, who has control of the military movements at Annapolis. He returned at 7 P. M., informing the regiment that the Seventh, of New-York, and the Massachusetts Regiment, in partial detachments, started for Washington on foot this forenoon; that the Seventy-first and the Rhode Islanders would leave to-morrow at 3 A. M., while our own, the Sixth, with the Twelfth, would remain and garrison the city for the present. Annapolis, it is determined, shall be held at any cost, and open communication kept up with New-York. The railroad hence to Washington, a distance of some forty miles, is still broken in places, and the present arrangement is that only the necessary baggage and regimental stores shall be sent by rail. The Naval Academy is closely guarded and no communication is allowed with the city. In fact Annapolis itself is nominally under martial law, and the city will soon present the appearance of a vast camp.

Our regiment go ashore at 4 A. M. While in barracks I will endeavor to give you some accurate accounts of the state of feeling in the capital of Maryland. Detailed accounts of the voyage left this evening per the cutter of the Harriet Lane, to be sent by propeller to Havre de Grace.

FROM ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

Annapolis, Thursday, April 25, 1861.

By the courtesy of Capt. Stedman I obtained passage in the Susquehanna war steamer Maryland, from Perryville to this port, and am thus enabled to give you the latest and most authentic intelligence relative to the movements and whereabouts of troops. You may rely upon the intelligence, since it is copied from Gen. Butler's official dispatches to Gen. Patterson. Before proceeding further, however, it may be well to explain that the Maryland war steamer is improvised from the railroad ferry boat which formerly plied between Perryville and Havre de Grace. She is not a very swift vessel, and was evidently built with more direct reference to strength than to beauty—nevertheless she answers the purpose of an armed transport mart admirably. At present she carries but one large gun and a medium sized howitzer, but she is pierced for 275 guns of the largest calibre. With a full armament she would look still more like an "ugly customer" than she does at present. If continued in the service additions will probably be made to her stem and stern, by which the one can be readily distinguished from the other.

On arriving at Annapolis we found the harbor blocked with transports which had been employed in bringing the troops from New-York, while several propellers lay at the wharf debarking stores from their bursting hatches. The trim little Harriet Lane was snugly moored among the cumbersome transports, looking like a sea-gull in the midst of a brood of ducks.

The quiet Naval Academy of Annapolis presents an unwonted appearance. The level plain, back of the young gentlemen's quarters, is covered with knapsacks, muskets, and soldiers. Troops are drilling.

INTERESTING FROM HAVANA.

How the Secession Flag is Treated by the Spanish Authorities.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, April 20, 1861.

On our arrival here, in the Cahawba, on the morning of the 18th, we found the steamer Empire City, with troops from Texas, in port, en route to New-York, and by her departure this morning I send this.

It is whispered that some of the Southerners among the officers are already talking of their disinclination to fight their brothers, &c. Those we have seen are thoroughly loyal.

The Mohawk, Capt. STRONG, (U. S. steamer,) which came in on the morning of the 18th, also leaves this morning. Her destination is Key West, and her commander, Capt. STRONG, will, under any circumstances, give a good account of himself.

With emotions of indignation and shame, that we could with difficulty suppress, and mortifying especially to Gov. CORWIN, one of the first sights that met our eye, as we entered the harbor, was the flag called that of the Confederate States flaunting in the breeze from an American schooner, which, by-the-way, looked as if she was fit for a slaver, if she was not destined to be one; and, further along, another met our eyes. Neither were hoisted in the peak, but they flaunted out quite as disgracefully.

A vessel from a Florida port came in the other day with the Confederate flag flying as her nationality. The boat of the Captain-General immediately came alongside, and required that it should be at once lowered, as it represented no known nation, and the master, who had an American flag ready at hand, hoisted that in place. He then went to the Vice-Consul, Mr. SAVAGE, acting since the departure of Major HELM, and presented a register from the Confederated States. The Consul replied he could recognize no such papers; but on the Captain representing that he was innocent in the matter, having taken command at the last moment, and the register having been taken out in the name of a previous master, the Consul said that if he would make oath that the vessel was owned wholly by citizens of the United States he would give him a sea letter, which would enable him to return to any port in the United States, but that he should retain his register and forward it to Washington.

The case was an anomalous one: the owners might be really loyal citizens, but forced, in absence of regular United States officers, to take out Confederated States papers, and in the absence of any instructions from Washington, Mr. SAVAGE hardly felt willing to take the responsibility of entirely refusing to have anything to do with the vessel, after she had hoisted the United States flag, and thus of condemning her to lie here, unable to leave, an indefinite time. Perhaps it would have been better to have assumed the responsibility, and have declined any connection with a vessel that could not prove her right to fly the United States flag by her papers. But for a Vice-Consul, and so near home, and so easily within reach of instructions, to assume to decide in so grave a case, is a thing that could hardly be expected. It would certainly seem, however, as if it were very desirable that immediate instructions be issued by our Government, in regard to such cases.

The feeling here, among the Cubans, and especially in official circles, is strongly against the Southern movement, and in sympathy with the North. The majority of Americans here, however, I think, sympathize with the South. The feeling of the Captain-General has been strongly manifested in his marked attentions to Gov. CORWIN. On the morning of our arrival, he sent off his barge, with his compliments, and placed it at our disposal to land. On the following day we called upon him, in company with the Vice-Consul, and in the evening the Captain-General returned the visit, by calling on Gov. CORWIN at our hotel, and added to the courtesy by a personal invitation to dine with him on Sunday (to-morrow.)

In the conversation both at his house and at the hotel yesterday, he expressed himself strongly as of the conviction that the South must lose in this attempt against the Government of the Union—that they had neither the men nor the money to maintain their position, and more than all, they had the difficulty of Slavery, which, in place of being an institution which in this age of the world could be extended, was one which only with difficulty could be maintained in those countries where it was already located; and in general terms he appeared in every way liberal in his views, and sympathetic with the North, and that on the philosophic principle that it was not in the nature of things, in the present age, that the South could succeed.

I learn generally with regard to the St. Domingo affair that the annexation, or protectorate, or more properly resumption, is considered un fait accompli. On the surface, at least, it appears that the people of St. Domingo, represented by their President, SANTANA, have asked the mother country to retake them to her bosom, and the Cuban Government acting for the Queen has accepted the same provisionally, and referred the matter to the Home Government for approval.

The force dispatched was of some 5,000 men and five large men-of-war. This island is so near that it is almost part of Cuba, and if the people wish to return to their former allegiance, certainly it will not be the worse for its commerce, and probably cannot, in any sense, injure us. We cannot now enforce any remonstrance and bad purposes, and had perhaps, therefore, better make a virtue of necessity, and cordially approve and accept the act.

We leave probably on Monday, 22d, for Vera Cruz. Respectfully, your obedient servant, P.

THE STATE OF THE COUNTRY.

MISCELLANEOUS POLITICAL INDICATIONS.

CIVILIZATION IN MARYLAND.

The Philadelphia Ledger publishes a card from Mr. SAMUEL BAKER, detailing his experiences in Maryland after getting separated from Gen. SMALL's regiment, in company with twenty-seven other Pennsylvanians. He says:

"After fleeing about twenty-two miles from Baltimore, we were arrested by a number of Secessionists, with revolvers pointed at our heads, calling us names which would not be fit for publication. We were marched across the country to a place called Belair, Harford County, there put into prison, and the people of this place threatened to shoot or hang us. It was announced to us that we were to be hung. We requested the Sheriff (whose name was WALLACE) to write to J. S. P., of the Sixteenth Ward, informing him of our fate; and some of the boys, whose courage did not fail them, wanted to know 'whether their ropes were hemp or flax.' After remaining in prison over night, the Sheriff informed us, about 9 o'clock in the morning, that our fate would be decided in a short time, as the people were holding a Court-martial in regard to us, but that he would do all he could to save us.'

Some insisted we must enlist in the Secessionist's army, others were for sending us back to the 'Baltimore Roughs,' and others determined to hang us. Finally, the Sheriff (God bless him for his kind treatment,) informed us that we were saved, and would be marched home. We were then placed in the centre of a body of troops, and compelled to march over a hilly country, and if any of us did not keep pace with the troop, their horses trod on us, and with feet blistered, hungry and no water, you may imagine our condition. Oh! it tried our souls. All along the road one of the troop went far ahead of the main body blowing a horn, when the people collected to see us, taunting and hooting, and calling us no endearing names. After traveling many miles, and being driven like beasts of burden or slaves to market, we were then told we were near Pennsylvania shore, and before passing a bridge, the name of which I do not know, they gave the keeper orders to move his family away, their intention being to blow up the bridge with powder. After resting a few hours, some sleeping in the woods, others by the wayside, we came across a gentleman by the name of ROBERT MAXWELL, of Cecil County, Maryland, whose family had moved into Pennsylvania, and many more of the people were preparing to go to Pennsylvania. Mr. MAXWELL provided a place for us something good to eat and drink; then our treatment became good, and all along in dear old Pennsylvania warm hearts greeted us, and for miles about the country people came to us and sympathized with our distressed and worn out condition. Sunday morning went to church in Oxford, and were kindly treated by the pastor of the congregation. I arrived in Philadelphia at 10 o'clock on Monday morning. When we were first arrested $100 was offered to any one of us who would tell them where Gen. SMALL was, but he was not with us, and if he had been with us none would have been so base as to betray a General who did all he could at Baltimore to protect us; and one miscreant villain that I saw was cut in the head by his sword. I am prepared to go again with him, let the consequences be what they may."

MR. LINCOLN AND THE MARYLANDERS.

The following account of an interview of Maryland Congressmen with President LINCOLN, is from the Baltimore Exchange:

"It will be remembered that, on Saturday last, Hon. ANTHONY KENNEDY and J. MORRISON HARRIS had an interview with President LINCOLN, when the following conversation took place between them: Mr. HARRIS having announced the object of their visit to be to prevent further bloodshed, and to obtain a recall of the orders issued for the movement of the troops, Mr. LINCOLN, referring to the visit of Messrs. DOBBIN, BRUNE and BOND, and the answer which he had made to their representations, added, "My God, Mr. HARRIS, I don't know what to make of your people. You have sent me one Committee already, and they seemed to be perfectly satisfied with what I said to them." Mr. HARRIS replied, that he knew nothing about that; he came as a citizen and a representative, to state facts as they actually existed, and to say that the attempt to send any more troops through Maryland would only lead to a battle, and a very sanguinary battle. Mr. LINCOLN answered: "My God, Sir, what am I to do? I had better go out and hang myself on the first tree I come to than to give up the power of the Federal Government in this way. I don't want to go through your town, or near it, if I can help it; but we must have the troops here to relieve ourselves, or we shall die like rats in a trap." He further expressed some surprise at the attitude of Mr. HARRIS, and was disposed to tax him with abandonment of his Union principles. Mr HARRIS answered the President that he was still a Union man, but he had come to state facts, and to represent to the President the sentiments of the people, and it was one of universal opposition to the passage of any Northern troops across the soil of Maryland. Mr. SEWARD, interposing, drew Mr. HARRIS aside to a window, and pointing to the bluffs of Arlington, asked Mr. HARRIS if he knew that on the top of that hill the Virginians might plant a battery, and they would not know at what moment a shell might burst in that very room. Gen. SCOTT, who was present, also expressed the opinion that it might be absolutely necessary for the troops to cut their way through Maryland, for the relief of the Federal Capital.

AFFAIRS IN BALTIMORE.

Marshal KANE has issued the following order:

OFFICE OF THE MARSHALL OF POLICE,
BALTIMORE, April 22, 1861.

The Police Board have directed that the city be reduced to a state of quiet and repose. It is, therefore, my duty to see that all disorderly persons be arrested and removed from the streets. Parents are advised to keep their minor children at home as much as possible. Those found idle on the street after the hour of 8 P. M., will be arrested and confined in the Station-house. Proprietors of places of amusement are requested to close them for the present, and until quiet be resumed. Bands of music are peremptorily prohibited from playing in the streets, or at any points where crowds will be attracted. The commanding officers of the several stations will see that these directions are complied with.

GEO. P. KANE, Marshal.

Gen. TRIMBLE, who is in command of the troops, has given notice that no steamers can leave the city without special permit; that they can take with them no supplies but such as the immediate necessities of the passengers may demand. This latter restriction is laid upon railroads, and no droves of horses are allowed to leave the city. Private persons may come and go as they please.

At the election which took place in Baltimore, on Wednesday last, to fill vacancies in the State Legislature, but 9,249 votes were cast, all in favor of the immediate Secession candidates. Last November there were 30,148 votes cast.

FROM CHARLESTON.

The Charleston Courier, of April 22d, is troubled by two facts: the presence of spies in that City, and the necessity which exists for an armory and powder-mill.

The Courier has rumors of a few companies going through Augusta, and a statement that General M. L. BONHAM was to start with his staff and regiment for Richmond on the 22d. With these exceptions, all the remarks about the South Carolina troops look as though they had got tired of campaigning, and were inclined to repose on their past exertions.

From Montgomery, we are informed that the Secession Cabinet are well posted as to passing events, and that DAVIS was to issue a proclamation last Monday.

There are telegrams from Charlotte, N. C., and from Richmond, to the effect that the Branch Mint at the former place and the arsenal at Fayetteville, had been seized by the North Carolina banditti. Compared with some of the plundering achievements of Cotton States, this seizure of the Charlotte Mint is a petty larceny, for in January last the bullion deposit there was but about $32,000. The capture of the arsenal is a more important affair, for it was well stored with arms taken from the North by the traitor FLOYD last Summer. It is said there were seventy thousand stand in the arsenal.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Gov. ELLIS, of North Carolina has issued an order for the immediate enrollment of 30,000 men, to resist the attempt to subjugate the South. The Adjutant General has issued an order directing the entire volunteer forces of the State to hold themselves ready to march at an hour's notice. He adds:

"The decree for our subjugation has gone forth; the time of our trial has come; the blow will soon fall; we must meet it with the whole energies of the State; we must show to the world that North Carolina will maintain her rights at all hazards."

FROM NORFOLK.

The channel to the port of Norfolk has been still further blocked up by sinking the old ship United States, in which DECATUR captured the Macedonian. The Federal troops at Fortress Monroe are supposed to be fortifying the Rip Raps, an unfinished fortification nearly opposite, and in the mouth of the entrance to Hampton Roads. The lights on the Virginia shore of the Chesapeake Bay are being removed or extinguished, it is supposed by order of the authorities of that State.

HARPER'S FERRY.

A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Harper's Ferry under date of April 23, says 5,800 Virginians are stationed there. The writer states, further, that the only buildings destroyed by the United States forces were the two brick structures which were used as arsenals, and the roof of one of the shops in the armory yard. Of improved arms 4,000 were saved, and the machinery, which is to a great extent uninjured, was at once boxed up and sent to the interior of the State. Gen KENTON HARPER, of Staunton, and Brig.-Gen. CARSON, of Winchester, have control of operations at Harper's Ferry.

ARMS FROM CANADA.

The Boston Transcript understands that Gov. ANDREW received from Canada on Thursday six thousand rifle muskets, with the sword bayonet, a most efficient weapon in the hands of a skilled soldier. They will probably be used to arm some of the volunteer companies now recruiting in Massachusetts.

LOCAL MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

HOME GUARD AT PALACE GARDEN.

On Monday last a meeting of citizens was held at Palace Garden to organize a Home Guard out of exempts and men of advanced years. HIRAM KETCHAM, Esq., in the Chair. An Executive Committee was appointed, consisting of Ab. M. Bininger, No. 19 Broad-street.

Burr Wakeman, No. 76 Nassau-street.
Samuel Hotaling, No. 6 Front-street.
Charles B. Tappen, No. 4 Pine-street.
John W. Edmonds, No. 111 Broadway.
Hiram Ketcham, No. 29 William-street.
Frederick A. Tallmadge, No. 23 Chambers street.
Charles Tracy, No. 18 William-street.

Two hundred and fifty-three members were enrolled that evening.

On Wednesday evening another meeting was held at the same place, and about 250 more enrolled themselves. Gen. DIX was appointed Commandant, with power to appoint all the officers, and the Committee were instructed to open communication with other similar institutions in the City, in view of concert of action. On Thursday evening another meeting was held, at which Gen. DIX's acceptance of the command was announced, and he appointed Col. OLIVER DE FOREST GRANT, and Col. ANDREW WARNER as his assistants. Col. WARNER being present immediately proceeded to organization. A line was formed of those present, numbering some two hundred, and the drill began. It was an interesting sight. The enrolment was, up to this time, confined to men over 45 years old. At one end of the line, in the ranks, was EDMONDS, late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and at the other end MAYNARD, Justice of the Marine Court, and along the line were Cols. WAKEMAN and TAPPEN, the Vermonter BININGER, Major-General SALSBURY, the Hon. ex Recorder, and active men of all classes. The corps consists already of over 500 men, and more are joining daily. It is the intention, and indeed the condition on which Gen. DIX accepted, that at least 4,000 should be raised in the City for a civic guard in the absence of our accustomed military corps. Enrolment papers, we understand, are to be found at BININGER's, No. 19 Broad-street; at the Mechanics' Exchange, Pine-street; at GREEN's, Druggist, corner of Broadway and Fourteenth-street; at the Palace Garden, and in the Rotunda of the Exchange. The corps is to be self-supporting. Every member furnishes his own equipments. The selection of Gen. DIX for the command is an excellent one. He entered the Army of the United States in December, 1812, at the early age of fifteen, being then commissioned as cadet. He served during the whole of that war, and was a Lieutenant of the Third Artillery at the close of it. He was afterwards aid to Gen. BROWN for about six years, and was a Captain of Artillery at Fortress Monroe when Major ANDERSON graduated at West Point, and was attached to his company as a Lieutenant. After 16 years service, he left the army in 1828, and was afterwards appointed Adjutant-General of this State. Such has been his military experience. His civil career is known to us all. There can be no doubt of his getting up a corps of 4,000 men, as he designs, for the first thing he did was to open the enrollment to men of all ages.

AID FOR THE SIXTH REGIMENT.

The undersigned, detailed by Col. J. C. PINCKNEY, Sixth Regiment New-York State Troops, to collect funds for the immediate relief of the families of the rank and file, many of which are left wholly destitute, acknowledge with much gratitude the following liberal contributions, and solicit further aid, as it will be some time before the funds given by the City can be made available.

Contributions may be sent to either of the following Committee:

THE LADIES AT WORK.

The ladies of the Astor House are busily engaged preparing lint bandages for the wounded in the coming war. The ladies parlor looks like a temporary hospital. Meanwhile the same ladies have found time to prepare an elegant silk flag for Col ELLSWORTH's Regiment, which will be presented to-day.

PATRIOTIC CLERKS.

The wholesale dry goods houses of New-York have turned out a large number of effective young men for the war. In nearly every case the salaries of these clerks are guaranteed to them until their return, another provision is made for their dependents in case they fall in the contest. The following is a list From Messrs. Claflin, Mellen & Co., 18; Fanshawe; Milliken & Townsend, 6; Benkard & Hutton, 5; Bailey & Southward, 4; Sturges, Shaw & Co., 4; Morton, Grinnell & Co., 4; Jenckens & Huntington, 3; and nearly every other establishment in the City one to two. The large proportion belong to the Seventh, Eighth and Seventy-first Regiments.

The Committee have already aided, financially, Col. ELLSWORTH's Zouaves, Col. DURYEA's Zouaves, Col. ALLEN's First Regiment National Guards, all of which are ready to take the field at a moment's notice. The Committee have applications under consideration to uniform and otherwise aid the Scott Life Guard, the new regiment being organized by Hon. DANIEL E. SICKLES, the Ninth Regiment of the First Division, and other organizations desirous of being placed immediately on a war footing. Not a cent of the money voted by the Common Council has yet been received, and yet the Committee has made appropriations amounting to $100,000.

The Committee is busily engaged in sending forward provisions and other necessary supplies for the use of the New-York regiments, and for the general benefit of the Government. For this purpose all the available vessels have been chartered.

The utmost care is taken that the appropriations for various purposes are properly applied. The requisite receipts and vouchers are in all cases required. This has occasioned some dissatisfaction among the applicants for relief, but is not allowed to delay action more than is positively necessary.

Arrangements have been made to furnish the Seventh, Fifth, Twelfth and Seventy-first Regiments of this City, with proper cooking-stoves to cook their food, the Committee being well aware of the great loss attendant upon the eating of raw food by troops unaccustomed to it.

The Committee is coöperating with Gen. WOOL in rendering such aid as can be given to the prompt forwarding of troops.

A prominent Secessionist has been spotted in this City through the agency of the Committee, and is now under the surveillance of the police. He is a man of intelligence, and heretofore of high respectability.

THE CITY GUARD AND THE DEFENCE OF THE HARBOR—LETTER FROM MERCHANTS AND OTHERS TO GOV. MORGAN.

To His Excellency, Hon. Edwin Morgan, Governor of the State of New-York:

The undersigned, merchants and property owners of the City of New York, respectfully represent that, inasmuch as the emergencies of the Government may and probably will require all the available forces of the regular service to be engaged in active operations, and that our harbors and forts may consequently be left with a force insufficient for its protection, it is deemed imperative that a local artillery battalion, competent to drill by experienced officers, should be organized at once; and as the undersigned are informed that competent officers are available for such service, and that one company (the City Guard) of experienced men is already formed, and capable of performing this service, which would form a nucleus for the organization, we respectfully request that such a battalion may be organized and equipped at once.

MASONIC COMPLIMENTARY VISIT UPON MAJOR ANDERSON.

The Grand Officers resident in the City, of the M. W. Grand Lodge of the State of New-York, by appointment called upon Major ANDERSON at the Brevoort House, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The officers present were M. W. John W. Simons, G. M.; Henry C. Banks, D. D. G. M.; R. D. Holmes, D. D. G. M.; Chas. L. Church, Grand Treasurer; James M. Austin, Grand Secretary; J. T. Couenhoven and C. D. Brown, Grand Stewards; J. Cornell, Grand Standard Bearer; and George W. Ray, Junior Grand Deacon, who were introduced by R. W. Henry C. Bank. The Grand Master, in a few feeling remarks of welcome to the distinguished brother, assured him of the deep sympathy of the Craft in this jurisdiction for his noble efforts in defence of the flag of his country at Fort Sumter. Bro. ANDERSON, in reply, stated that this complimentary visit, and assurance of the sympathy of his brethren of the "mystic tie," he esteemed more highly than any ovation tendered him since his return from Fort Sumter.

THE BARRACKS IN THE PARK.

The extensive barracks in the City Park will be ready, it is expected, for occupancy to-day. The main building is 400 feet long, and is provided with seats and tables for feeding 1,500 men at once. The cook-house adjoining is fitted up with three immense ranges, and will be provided with all the requisite utensils. The Croton has already been introduced. The smaller building is 200 feet long, and is intended as a wash-house, for stacking arms in wet weather, and a portion of it for sleeping in. There will be about 400 bunks. It was intended to have a long trough for washing purposes, but from sanitary reasons, fifty separate iron basins were substituted. MORGAN JONES does the plumbing. There will also be erected officers' quarters, and, if necessary, more bunk-rooms. The barracks are erected by the State, and are intended for the accommodation of troops passing through this City, whether attached to the regular Army, or the militia of our own or other States. Paymaster-General T. B. VAN BEUREN, of the Quartermaster-General's Department, is superintending the work.

THE ZOUAVES AT FORT SCHUYLER.

Col. DURYEA's Regiment, which proceeded in two steamers, on Wednesday, to Fort Schuyler, had an ovation all the way up the East River. The passengers on the large Sound steamers assembled on deck en masse, cheering and waving handkerchiefs, while the colors were dipped and the whistles blown. The men of the Regiment were particularly hearty in their salutations to the vessels named after the old Bay State and Plymouth Rock. The countless ferry-boats and tugs flying on the Sound, in like manner, exchanged greetings with the transports, and along the shores the people assembled, and made all manner of applauding demonstrations. At the fort the men paraded and marched to their quarters, and the command was immediately placed under military regulations. The soldiers are in fine spirits, and enter into the routine of military discipline with that alacrity which volunteer troops, more than any other, are wont to evince. They are men of intelligence, and will speedily be ready for action.

THE LADIES AND THE SECOND REGIMENT.

A number of the Fourteenth-street ladies met on Monday evening, April 22, at the house of Mrs. JOSEPH D BEERS, No. 11 East Fourteenth street, for the purpose of making an expression of their sympathy for the cause in which our country is involved in civil war, and contributing something to aid and comfort the troops of the City who are so suddenly called into the service of their country, and who have so promptly responded to it. They have selected the Second Regiment as the object of their immediate interest, and are engaged in making a sufficient number of haversacks, to supply one to each member of the Regiment. This Regiment is ordered out, and is expected to leave on Monday, the 29th inst.

THE FLAG AT RUTGERS.

Rutgers Institute was the scene of presentation of a very beautiful flag, by the young ladies of the Institute, to the Trustees. Rev. Dr. FERRIS presided. The exercises commenced by singing "Amonia," which was followed by prayer, and singing the "Red, White and Blue" and "Star Spangled Banner." Major ANDERSON was expected, but owing to illness, could not attend. His lady was there, and received a very beautiful boquet from the hands of Judge HOXEY, who, at the same time made some very feeling and appropriate remarks.

CAVALRY REGIMENTS FORMING.

Several Cavalry regiments are in course of formation. The New-York Regiment have their headquarters at Palace Garden. The Garde Murat, composed principally of Frenchmen, who have seen active service in France. A Westchester cavalry regiment is also forming. Cols. BAY and CLARKE, of the United States Army, will form these regiments into a brigade, and command them.

A PATRIOTIC OFFER TO BE IMITATED.

Messrs. HAINES & BROTHERS, piano-forte manufacturers, offer the use of their building, corner of Second-avenue and Twenty-first-street, with a front of 113 feet, to any one forming a volunteer company in defence of our nation's flag, or to any regiment or company from the City or country, to be used as drill, eating or sleeping rooms, as they may deem best. The rooms are all well lighted and ventilated, and have gas and water throughout.

THE BURNHAM ZOUAVES.

This is the name of a volunteer corps just organized in Brooklyn, composed of the members of BURNHAM's gymnasium and their friends. The citizens of that city and New-York are liberally subscribing towards its equipments.

TEN THOUSAND STAND OF ARMS NOW IN THE CITY.

On Thursday ten thousand stand of arms were received in this city from New-Haven, consigned to Gov. CURTIN, of Pennsylvania. Superintendent KENNEDY detailed a body of the Police to escort the arms to the pier on North River, at which the Camden and Amboy steamers land, but subsequently, by order of Gen. WOOL, the arms were detained, it is supposed, for the purpose of arming the volunteers.

THE SARSFIELD BRIGADE.

The organization of the above Regiment has been delayed for prudential reasons, in order to have the men fully armed and equipped. The roll was, however, opened yesterday morning for the admission of members, at the Mercer House, and at No. 431 Broome st. Other depôts for recruiting will be soon opened.

THE EXEMPT FIREMEN.

A meeting of the Exempt Firemen of New-York was held Thursday, at Firemen's Hall, P. W. ENGS in the chair, when it was resolved that the Exempt Firemen should perform active fire duty during the absence of the firemen who have joined the Zouave Regiment, and that, under the direction of the officers, $700 be appropriated to the needy families of absent firemen.

SUBSCRIPTION FOR THE EIGHTH REGIMENT.

A fund is now being raised to be used exclusively for the benefit of the families of the members of the Eighth Regiment, (Washington Grays,) now on its way to the National Capital. The following subscriptions have been made, viz: M. H. & D. Cashman, $500; Josiah M. Fiske & Co., $100; John H. Riker, $100; Schenck, Rutherford & Co, $25. Contributions will be received by D. CASHMAN, Esq., Treasurer, No. 5 Beaver-street.

LOOKING OUT FOR PIRATES.

The Panama Railroad Company have sent to Aspinwall a pack of artillery and some heavy guns to be used in the protection of that place against any possible descent. Mr. W. H. ASPINWALL, it is understood, has been applied to by the Government to equip a steamer for the protection of the approaches to the Chesapeake. The two most serviceable vessels in possession of the Secessionists are the steamers Jamestown and Yorktown, both in the James River. They can communicate with Norfolk, but cannot pass out to sea, or up the Chesapeake without permission of Fort Monroe.

ELLSWORTH'S ZOUAVES.

We regret to hear that Col. ELLSWORTH's Regiment of Zouaves, taken from the flower of the City Firemen, are still short of funds to equip them. Money, materials for under clothes, shoes, towels, &c., may be sent to JOHN DECKER Chief Engineer, No. 21 Elizabeth street, or ZOPHAR MILLS, Trustee, No. 144 Front-street. Clothing, &c., may also be left at DEVLIN's new building in Canal-street.

THE FIFTH REGIMENT ENCAMPMENT.

The Fifth remain in their tents upon the Battery another day, arrangements not having been perfected for their departure Thursday, as anticipated. Col. SCHWARZWAELDER and his men look well, and take kindly to their discipline. They will most likely go to-day.

FLAG RAISING ON STEEPLES.

Within the past two days the dangerous feats of hanging out Star Spangled Banners from the steeples of Trinity and Grace Church have been performed. The colors of Trinity are displayed about 40 feet from the top. The flag of Grace Church waves from the very summit of the spire.

CLERICAL SOLDIERS.

Rev. T. L. CUYLER's Church in Brooklyn, (Presbyterian,) have hoisted the Stars and Stripes on their roof, appointed a hospital committee of ladies, and their pastor has enlisted in the "Home Guard."

HELP THE VOLUNTEERS.

Hundreds who have nobly volunteered to fight for the Union are embarrassed for the want of the necessary equipments. Contributions, in any sums, for his purpose, may be left with Mr. STEELE, cashier of THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

THE CARPENTERS AND THE WAR.

At a meeting Thursday, of the Carpenters' Union, resolutions were passed exonerating all members enlisting for the war from all fines and dues, and placing them in good standing on returning. The Carpenters will also support the families of their volunteers.

ALDERMAN BARRY'S REGIMENT.

A new regiment is being organized, under the command of Alderman BARRY. Over 500 men have already volunteered—men that were left behind when the Sixty-ninth Regiment went away. The headquarters are at No. 17 Centre street.

UNION VOLUNTEERS OF NEW-BRITAIN, CONN.

In the village adjoining New-Britain, Conn., where there were only twenty-five young men, all told, fourteen joined the Union Volunteers. The wealthy citizens engaged to provide for their families, and the ladies made them handsome presents for equipments, &c.

MONTEZUMA REGIMENT.

Col. WM. H. BROWNE has appointed Rev. E. B. PALMER to the Chaplaincy of the Montezuma Regiment.

THE IRISH VOLUNTEERS.

A body of Irish Volunteers will meet at No. 42 Prince-street to-day, at 7 P. M.

LAW REPORTS.

Decision in Bankruptcy.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

Before Justice Betts.

PRIVATE SALE—DUTY OF ASSIGNEE—PRACTICE.

In the Matter of Jordan Mott and Jacob H. Mott.—This was an application to set aside a conveyance made by the general assignee in bankruptcy.

Decrees of bankruptcy were rendered against both parties on Jan. 27, 1843, and certificates of bankruptcy were granted to Jacob H. Mott on May 23, 1843, and to Jordan Mott on May 27, 1843. On Feb. 28, 1860, the general assignee, to whom their estates had been assigned, filed a report in each case, setting forth that application had been made to him to procure at private sale all the interest which the bankrupts had in the estate of their grandfather, John Hopper, who died in August, 1819; that he had carefully examined the subject, and moved for an order authorizing him so to sell that property. The order was entered, and the Assignee sold the property at private sale to Isaac C. Delaplaine, for the sum of $800 for the property, and $200 to the Assignee for his costs and expenses. Before the order authorizing the sale, Mr. Foot, as counsel of the Union Bank of this City, applied to the Assignee to sell the property to the Bank for a nominal consideration and his costs; and he testifies that the Assignee agreed to make such conveyance, and received $25 as his costs, and made the arrangement with Delaplaine in violation of that agreement. The Bank thereupon filed a petition setting up these facts, and that they were creditors of both bankrupts to a large amount, and prayed that the conveyance to Delaplaine should be rescinded, and that the Assignee be compelled to fulfill his agreement with the Bank.

This motion on the petition and the opposing affidavits came on to be heard before Judge Hall on April 21, 1860, and he denied the motion, but "without prejudice to the rights of the parties, or to any other motion, suit, action or proceeding in respect thereto."

The motion is now reviewed on the same papers, together with a notice by the assignee of a dividend to be declared, published June 14, 1860, and a correspondence as to the terms on which Delaplaine would transfer his bargain.

Held by the Court—That the leave granted by Judge Hall gives no authority to repeat the motion on the same facts, and the additional papers do not touch the merits of the controversy, or tend to impeach the integrity or validity of the sale to Delaplaine, or to strengthen the legal or equitable right set up by the petitioners in their original motion.

That it is doubtful whether the petitioners are competent to prosecute any motion or proceedings in equity without having proved debts in their favor under the bankrupt law, or whether they show any matter triable in this Court under that law, which provides that no suit at law or in equity shall, in any case, be maintained by or against the assignee, unless the same shall be brought within two years after the declaration and decree of bankruptcy or after the cause of action shall have first accrued.

That the interest of the bankrupts under the Hopper will was not mentioned in their schedules, nor indicated to the assignee by any of their creditors. No duty was imposed upon him by law to institute a search, or even an inquiry, in respect to an object so occult. When the matter was first brought to his notice by the counsel for the petitioners, it was asserted that it was of no value, and its transfer was asked, therefore, on a nominal consideration. Instead of enforcing a specific performance the Court would have held it a high dereliction of duty on the part of the assignee if he had so transferred it, having learned that it was of value to the estate.

That the proceedings out of which the sale arose were conducted according to law, although the sale was not conducted with so vigilant an inquiry into the salable value of the interest as the Court was entitled to expect from the assignee.

That the petitioners establish no right to the interference of the Court to cause a transfer of the property to them; but it appearing that there is color in the case for a more authoritative decision upon points of law of a general character, affecting the limitations of the bankrupt act and rights of parties under it, the case may, on motion, within ten days, be adjourned to the Circuit Court for adjudication upon such points, at the expense of the petitioners, otherwise the motion is denied, with costs.

Hackley Discharged on Bail.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Barnard.

In the Matter of A. J. Hackley.—This matter came up again pursuant to adjournment. Mr. Hackley gave bail in the sum of $500, to appear at the next Court of Oyer and Terminer, and was discharged from custody. District-Attorney Anthon for prosecution; Wm. Fullerton for defendant.

Court of General Sessions.

In this court, before Recorder HOFFMAN, Mr. Garvin prosecuting for the people, there was but one case, that of Strohmeyer for larceny; the prisoner was indicted with the three prisoners, Meyers, Hoffman and Brown, in whose case the day previous the jury had disagreed. The same testimony was produced against the present prisoner, as in the other case, and the jury, was failing to agree, were discharged, and the prisoner was remanded.

The Court then adjourned to this morning at 10 o'clock. The May term will begin a week from next Monday, till which time there will be no trials; but the Court will adjourn from day to day, for the purposes of the Grand Jury.

Decision.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

CLERKE, J.—Van Dine vs. James C. Willett.—Sheriff case, settled; all the amendments allowed.

FRIDAY, April 26—P. M.

On the Stock Exchange, to-day, there was no decided excitement either way. The course of prices was again reversed, and yesterday's figures reduced on the closing printed sales this afternoon about as follows:

	Thurs.	Fri.		Thurs.	Fri.
Virginias	42½	41¾	Michigan Central	43¼	[illegible]
Missouris	40	37¾	Michigan Guar'd	28¾	[illegible]
Tennessees	47	42	Panama	100	[illegible]
Central	73	72¾	Illinois Central	58¼	[illegible]
Erie	20¾	19¾	Galena	57¾	[illegible]
Hudson	36	35¾	Toledo	23	[illegible]
Harlem Preferred	30	29¾	Rock Island	37¾	[illegible]
Reading	32¾	31	Burlington	58	[illegible]

On the Southern Border State stocks there was some disposition shown to press the sales of Missouris at lower figures. The impression derived from recent letters from St. Louis is, that should the State require half a million dollars from the banks for war purposes, they will not be able to supply in addition the means in New-York necessary to pay the July interest on the public debt. There may be, and we dare say is, some reason to fear temporary difficulty on this point, but as the 1st July is yet more than two months off, affording time for a radical change in the political situation of the country, the actual holders of Missouri bonds are not called upon to make immediate sacrifices in the market. There is a fresh fall also in Tennessee Sixes, on advices from Nashville that the State is likely to be hurried into an armed league, either with the Gulf Confederacy or with the other Border States, which will involve a considerable public expenditure, to be borne by the Bank of Tennessee, owned by and acting as the fiscal agent of the State. But, as remarked in the case of Missouri, the intervening period of sixty days may altogether change this prospect. Should no extensive military expenditure be incurred by Tennessee, our belief is that the Bank of Tennessee will have the ability to place the July interest as usual in the Merchants' Bank in New-York, aided as it will be by the Railway Companies of the State, to whom the Bonds were originally loaned, at the rate of $10,000 ₩ mile mortgage upon the several dividend lines. There was not much variation in Virginia Stocks to-day, although the suggestion was made, but not acted upon, at the Board of Brokers, that the stocks of all the seceding States should be struck from the official list. In Railway Mortgages, so far as they were offered, prices were well maintained; and the Federal Securities were also steady; registered 81's at 87, and Coupons 85½ ₩ cent. Late in the afternoon, the market in the Share-list was steady, and disposed to firmness; New-York Central, 72½@72¾ ₩ cent., and other Stocks fully up to the latest printed sales at the Second Board.

The market for Money is quiet and easy on call loans, on Stock collateral, but unsettled on mercantile paper, which is subjected to increased scrutiny by reason of a number of recent failures in the jobbing trade, and rumors of increased embarrassment among houses dependent upon Southern and Northwestern collections. The high exchanges and depreciated local currency at St. Louis and Chicago have greatly aggravated the difficulty of collecting dues in Missouri, Illinois, &c. The Foreign Exchanges are easy for the steamer to-morrow; rates about the same as on Wednesday, London 105½@106 for best class bankers' bills, and 104@105 for merchant bills.

The following summary, compiled from the returns made by the banks in this State to the Superintendent of the Banking Department, exhibits the condition of the banks and banking associations of this State on the 29th December, 1860, and the 16th March, 1861:

WELLS' Chicago Commercial Express of the 25th inst. says:

"No one can fully understand or appreciate, without having been on the spot, and so being more or less confounded with it, the confusion into which business has been thrown during the last week by the condition of our currency. Merchants have absolutely refused to sell goods for cash! With exchange on New-York at 15 per cent. premium, they preferred to keep the goods. Produce men would not sell anything without stipulating precisely as to which bank they were to resort for pay. With some banks receiving and giving out as bank bills not based on Northern State Stocks, while others receive and pay out a large proportion of [illegible] actually but little better than those already [illegible] depreciated, and passing at 30 cents on the dollar, it behoved a seller to beware of the kind of currency he must take. It is thus that we find wheat selling at 86c., checks in payment drawn on the currency and "particular" Banks, and the very same kind of wheat selling at 92c., checks on any other Bank; again, mess pork selling at $18, payment in gold or exchange on New-York, and at $21@$21 50, payment in currency.

In such a state of the markets, it will be readily understood that bare quotations mean very little; six cents range on wheat, but the difference in opinion as to the security of a set of banks; three dollars difference on a barrel of pork, according to the choice between gold, and probability of peace and payment of State Bonds.

One fact may be noted above all others; men of real responsibility or means, have not done much business in the last week. Suspense, bewilderment, dread, have each and all occupied a place in the minds of many, whom we have never before known to exhibit any other characteristics than complete comprehension, decision, and daring enterprise. How long shall these things be?"

A meeting of the subscribers to the New-York Produce Exchange was held yesterday, at the close of the regular business hours, on the main floor of the Exchange, with a view to organization and the adoption of a Constitution and Bye-Laws. The meeting was called to order by ISAAC H. REED, Esq., who presided. Mr. JOHN J. MARVIN, Secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were formally adopted.

The chairman stated that the unfinished business of the previous meeting related to the adoption of a Constitution and Bye-Laws. Mr. THEODORE PERRY reported a draft of a constitution and bye-laws, stating that it had been prepared with great care, and printed and circulated by order of the Committee appointed for the purpose. He moved its adoption as a whole. Mr. EDWARD J. MANN seconded this motion. Mr. WM. W. BARBER moved, as an amendment, that each article be read and acted on separately. He could not sanction wholesale measures in a matter of so much importance. Mr. PERRY thought it unnecessary to proceed in the manner suggested by the amendment of Mr. BARBER. Every article had been thoroughly discussed and deliberately adopted in Committee, and there was no need to enter on a repetition of this weary labor. Mr. BARBER supported his amendment, and cited the second paragraph of the third article of the Constitution, merely to condemn it, and recommend its suppression. The amendment having been duly seconded, was voted on and declared lost. Mr. BARBER next moved an amendment of the objectionable portion of the third article, so as to place all classes and interests on an equal footing. Mr. JOHNSON seconded the motion. Mr PERRY opposed it. He said that the said clause had been introduced on the recommendation of a large number of resident merchants, who were tax-payers within the limits of the City and its suburbs, and who thought that parties doing business on the floor of the Exchange, but residing at a distance from the City, and bearing no portion of the burdens of citizens, in the shape of taxes, &c., should not be allowed to become members on the same terms as resident merchants. This distinction did not affect Mr. BARBER, and Mr. PERRY considered it a just one, as it had also been the opinion of the Committee. An irregular debate ensued, in which Mr. BARBER, Mr. MANN, Mr. PERRY, and Mr. GEO. B. POWELL took part, the first gentleman mentioned being the only advocate of the amendment which he had offered. Mr. MANN called for a vote on the question of adopting the amendment. Mr. POWELL insisted on the putting of the question, as business men had something else to do besides talking merely for the sake of the talk. The vote was accordingly taken, and the amendment negatived. Mr. MANN, seconded by Mr. POWELL, immediately moved the adoption of the Constitution and Bye-laws, as originally prepared by Mr. PERRY. The chairman put the motion of the meeting, and it was adopted without dissent. The following is the Constitution as adopted:

We, the undersigned, desirous to advance the commercial character of the city of New-York, and wishing to inculcate just and equitable principles in trade, to establish and maintain uniformity in the commercial usages of the City, acquire and disseminate valuable business information, and with a view to avoid and adjust, as far as practicable, the controversies and misunderstandings which are apt to arise between individuals engaged in trade, hereby associate under the title of THE NEW-YORK COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATION, and agree to be governed by the following

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.—The government of this Association shall be vested in a President, Vice President, Treasurer, and Twelve Managers, to be chosen annually, and to continue in office until their successors are elected—all of whom shall constitute a Board of Managers.

ART. II.—Any respectable person engaged in any of the branches of business connected with the Produce Trade, shall be admitted to membership upon signing an agreement to be governed by the Constitution and By-laws of this Association, and paying the assessments named herein, except in case of expelled members.

ART. III.—The Board of Managers shall contract with the Produce Exchange Company for the use of their Exchange Room and a room for the Board of Managers, at a fixed sum per annum for each member of this Association, which sum shall thereupon be assessed by said Board upon the members, and also a sum sufficient to defray the other expenses of the Association; and no person shall become a member until he has paid the assessments above mentioned. Assessments for these purposes shall be made annually, payable at some fixed time in the month of May, and if the assessment of any member shall remain unpaid at the end of the month of May in any year, he shall thereupon cease to be a member of this Association.

With the exception of purchasers for export from the United States, persons not having a place of business in the Cities of New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, or Hoboken, shall be assessed twice the sum for the use of the room that shall be assessed upon persons having a place of business therein.

The Managers may make such arrangements with the Produce Exchange Company, for the rent of tables, as they may agree upon, not conflicting with the provisions of this Constitution.

ART. IV.—There shall be a general annual meeting at the Exchange Room, to be held the first Monday in May in each year, at which a report of the Managers shall be read and an election held for President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and twelve Managers, (together forming a Board of Managers,) an Arbitration Committee of five members, and three Inspectors of Election. Special meetings shall be called by the President, when the Managers shall direct, or by written request of twelve members. No person shall vote nor take any part at the meetings or elections, except members of the Association.

ART. V.—All elections shall be by ballot: and voting on any subject that may come before the Association, shall also be by ballot if directed by the Board of Managers, or desired by written request of twelve members, addressed to the President. At all ballotings, a plurality of the persons voting, (not less than one hundred in all) shall constitute a choice.

ART. VI.—No person shall be allowed to transact business on the floor of the Exchange, either directly or indirectly, except members of the Association; strangers in the City may obtain a card of admission to the rooms for a week, upon being introduced by a member, and having their names entered upon the Visitors' book.

ART. VII.—The members of the Association shall assemble daily for business intercourse, and shall adjourn punctually at the hour fixed by the Association.

ART. VIII.—The Constitution and By Laws may be altered and amended by a majority of two-thirds of the members present, at a general or special meeting; the President having at the written request of twenty members first given ten days' notice that such a meeting is desired, and intended to be held for such purpose. In such notice he shall clearly state the nature of the amendment proposed.

The By-Laws provide for the enforcement of the Constitution, and are not of general interest.

A temporary Committee, to take charge of the floor and bulletin, was appointed, on recommendation, by the chairman. It consists of Mr. GEO. B. POWELL, Mr. THEODORE PERRY and Mr. BENJAMIN C. BOGERT. They are to serve, until the permanent organization of the Association shall have been completed, by the election of officers on the first Monday in May. On motion, the chairman also appointed three inspectors of election to act on the occasion of the first annual election. These are, Mr. CLINTON HITCHCOCK, Mr. CHAS. B. ANDROS and Mr. ABRAHAM S. JEWELL. An adjournment was then moved and carried.

THE BULL'S HEAD BANK CONTRIBUTES to families left destitute in that neighborhood.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Bull's Head Bank, held on Friday, April 26, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The call for 75,000 volunteers made by the President of the United States, to maintain the Government and the laws, and to put down treason and rebellion, has called away many fathers and sons in and around our neighborhood, who have left their families unprovided for; and

Whereas, It is the duty of all moneyed institutions to contribute liberally in alleviating the wants of such families as may have been left helpless during the absence of those on whom they relied for support; therefore

Resolved, That the Bull's Head Bank donate the sum of $1,000 for the relief of such families as may be found in the upper part of this City.

Resolved, That the Directors of the Bull's Head Bank be and are hereby appointed a Committee, with power to distribute the above amount, as in their discretion may seem best; and that the said Committee shall have power to act in connection with any other Committee that may have been or may hereafter be appointed in this neighborhood, and receive contributions from persons desirous of aiding the above cause, for distribution in manner aforesaid; and that RICHARD WILLIAMSON act as Chairman, and JOSEPH H. ELDREDGE act as Treasurer of said Committee, with power to receive contributions at the Bull's Head Bank.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The advantages in the struggle for position may now be considered as decidedly in favor of the Government. The troops now in Washington,—including the Seventh of this City, which has positively arrived there in safety,—are amply sufficient to hold the city against any Secessionist forces likely to be brought against it for some time to come. But activity is not to cease with the present safety of the Capital, and troops will continue to be concentrated there until they reach a number which shall render any ultimate attempt against it improbable. The Secessionist forces now collected in Virginia are said to number some 14,000, but it is not likely, from all we can learn, that they are more than half armed. Meantime, from every point in the North and West the note of preparation continues to be sounded, and troops are being placed at the disposal of the Government with marvelous rapidity.

The latest advices which reach us from Baltimore, indicate that the rule of the secession mob is becoming distasteful to a large portion of the community, and especially among those engaged in trade, whose business has come to a full stand in consequence of the interruption of the usual channels of communication, and the condition of terror into which the inhabitants have been thrown by the scenes transpiring around them. The Union men are once more gaining courage to give utterance to their sentiments, and the "Stars and Stripes" again float over the head-quarters of the Minute Men, and on Butcher's Hill. Persons are even found bold enough to proclaim Union sentiments in the public parlors of the hotels. Other indications of a reaction in the public mind are not wanting, but perhaps the most significant one of all is to be found in a leading article published in the Baltimore Sun of yesterday, which emphatically denies that the Sun is a Secession paper, and warns the Legislature, an extra session of which has been called by Gov. Hicks, that it has no right to pass an Ordinance of Secession.

The American Telegraph Company will commence receiving messages from Washington this morning. Those deposited at the office here (No. 21 Wall-street) before 1½ o'clock of each day, will reach Washington the same evening. Arrangements are being made by which an almost hourly communication will be made with Washington. The Press will thus be enabled to furnish to the public a much fuller and more reliable account of of the state of affairs at Washington than they have done for some days past.

The steamship Baltic, which conveyed the Twelfth Regiment, and the Columbia, which carried the Sixth to Annapolis, returned to this port yesterday afternoon, and report the safe arrival and disembarkation of the troops at that point. They left Annapolis at 10 o'clock Thursday, at which time the two regiments above named, and the Rhode Island regiment under Gov. Sprague, were making arrangements to start for Washington. The Seventh Regiment, it was supposed, had proceeded about 10 miles on the road to Washington, and some firing of musketry had been heard in the direction they had gone. The light-boats in the Potomac were burned, and the light at Cape Henry extinguished. The Potomac pilot reported that batteries had been erected on both shores of that river; but as the steamer Keystone State, which left Washington on Wednesday, saw nothing of them, and met with no obstruction, the story is believed to be incorrect. The Marion, James Adger, Ariel and Monticello were met near the mouth of the Potomac, bound to Annapolis. The troops were all well and very enthusiastic. Capt. Whiting furnishes an interesting account of the voyage of the Columbia.

The steamship United Kingdom, which left this port on Tuesday last for Glasgow, will call off Cape Race this afternoon or to-morrow, for the latest news and dispatches. The line to Cape Race has been down for some days, in consequence of a terrific storm throughout Newfoundland, but may possibly be in order to-day, in which case dispatches will be transmitted to the United Kingdom.

The Pony Express passed Fort Kearney, on Thursday, with advices from San Francisco to the afternoon of the 13th inst. The sailing of the steamer St. Louis, for Panama, with three hundred passengers and $850,000 in treasure, for New-York, is announced. The California Legislature had been occupied in considering a Catholic School bill, which proposes to divide the school moneys of the State, and allow the Catholics to establish separate schools. It was expected that the question would assume considerable political importance. The accounts from Oregon relative to the Nez Perces gold mines are of the most attractive character. Later advices are received from Washington and British Columbia, but there is nothing of special importance.

At Chambers of the Supreme Court yesterday, before Justice Barnard, Andrew J. Hackley gave bail in the sum of $500 to appear at the next term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, to answer the bill of indictment presented by the Grand Jury. In the General Sessions there was one trial for larceny; the jury failed to agree. There will be no more trials till a week from Monday.

The Stock market was lower on some of the State stocks and most of the Railway shares yesterday, though without marked excitement. New-York closed 72½, Missouri Sixes 37¾. Exchange 105½@106 for Bankers' bills on London.

An active business was transacted in Breadstuffs yesterday, at firmer prices for the principal articles. Cotton was quiet, but very firm. Light sales of Groceries were reported. A fair inquiry prevailed for Provisions, but at irregular quotations. Rice, Whisky, common Resin, and Spirits Turpentine, were in good demand at buoyant rates. Hay and Tallow were moderately dealt in. The movements in other branches of trade were limited.

The Government and the People.

We have held some very plain talk with the Government, lately, on behalf of the People. We have told them that, so far as we could judge from their acts, they did not at all comprehend the real nature of the struggle that awaits the country; that while the people regard it as a struggle for life, as a contest on the issue of which hangs the existence of this Republic, with the preservation of its liberties and rights, to all appearance the Government look upon it as merely a temporary ebullition of passion, involving nothing more important than the safety of the Capital at Washington. The apparent inactivity of the Government,—its repeated and disastrous defeats in its contests with the Rebellion, its loss of Sumter, its waste of arms at Harper's Ferry, the needless destruction of its ships-of-war and of the vast amount of munitions of war collected at the Navy-yard at Gosport, its apparent surrender of the right of way for the Flag of the Republic through the City of Baltimore and the State of Maryland,—these and other mishaps scarcely less serious, infused into the public mind a feeling of profound sorrow, which threatened the most perilous consequences, unless it should be removed by the revived energy and intelligent activity of the Government.

No one who has observed carefully the development of public sentiment at the North, and especially in this City during the last ten days, can doubt for a moment that our warning was perfectly justified by the condition of affairs, and absolutely demanded for the preservation of the public peace. We did not hesitate to say to the President that unless he acted with more vigor, with more courage, with a more thorough comprehension of public exigencies and of public sentiment than had then been displayed, he ran the risk of plunging the Government into embarrassments from which it could only be rescued, by some one who should more accurately represent the sentiments and purposes of the American people. We are not in the least surprised that the warning has shocked the sensibilities of sundry mercenary sycophants of the Administration, as well as startled the apprehensions of the lovers of law and order. But that is a risk which one always incurs in telling the truth. That the warning was needed—that it only embodied in a distinct and articulate form the thoughts and feelings of that great body of the people, who are cut off from access to the Capital of their country by the brutal and rebellious insolence of Baltimore, we need no better proof than the letter of George Law, which was published in the Times of yesterday morning. That able and public-spirited citizen only uttered the voice of the great mass of the people, when he said that, if the Government did not clear the track, the people would do it for them.

It must be borne in mind that we are in a period of Revolution, when the minds of men are excited, when their profoundest passions are aroused, and when the tremendous and omnipotent energies of a mighty nation stand ready to precipitate themselves upon the achievement of any purpose which the public welfare, in their judgment, may prescribe. The hearts of the American people are stirred at this present moment to a degree unexampled in the history of modern times. An intense sense of insult, of degradation unavenged, of humiliations and outrages inconsistent with an honorable and prosperous national career, rankles in the public heart. The people not only stand ready to encounter the horrors of war to redress these wrongs, but they demand the opportunity for instant and effective action for the accomplishment of that object. And when, as they believe, the Government of their country seems indifferent to their demands, or insensible to the infinite urgency of the impending crisis, they fall back instinctively upon their own power and assert the right to redress their wrongs. These are sentiments and impulses which must not be trifled with. They may be guided, but they cannot be ignored. They may, by a prompt and heroic leadership, be wielded for the achievement of the highest and noblest results which great nations can ever reach. But if they are thwarted or treated with contempt, as impertinent and troublesome intermeddlers in public affairs, they will work out for themselves a path, even if they have to override the Government, which ought to guide them to the accomplishment of its own wise and just ends.

By arrivals from Washington yesterday, we receive a very natural explanation of the comparative inactivity of the Government. For five days, they have been without advices from New-York. They have had no mails from the Northern States for nearly a week. They have thus been cut off from all contact with the public heart,—from all the impulses of popular inspiration. They have known nothing of that great uprising of the American people,—the grandest and noblest spectacle of this age,—that instant and simultaneous rush of twenty millions of freemen to the rescue of the flag which symbolises all their devotion,—all their faith, all their hopes and aspirations for themselves and their posterity. They have been surrounded on every side by deadly foes, without the means of communicating with their friends, or knowing anything of the temper of the world without. They stood in the immediate presence of an apprehended danger,—and naturally enough, their earliest thought was, how they should themselves escape.

But all this is changed. A route is now open between Washington and the Great North. The beat of the popular heart can now be felt at the Seat of Government. The men who stand at the head of affairs, can now know what the people expect at their hands. The man who holds the helm, can now feel the gale that sweeps from the aroused and resistless North, and fills the sails and sweeps toward her destined port the Ship of State. No man will know better than Abraham Lincoln the meaning of this roar and swell of public sentiment,—no man will more promptly respond to the duty which it imposes, or carry the nation more steadily and safely through the howling tempest which it announces. He will have no difficulty in perceiving that in the view of the mighty mass of the American people, the Government is launched upon one of those great conflicts with passionate and reckless ambition,—those tremendous contests with conspiracy and rebellion,—which every great nation, at some period of its existence, has been doomed to encounter, and from which, if met with true appreciation and heroic courage, every nation has emerged purer and nobler, and capable of more lofty deeds than ever before. It is not merely a contest for possession of a Capital,—for resistance to a party,—or for the redress of real or of fancied wrongs. A mighty conspiracy, wielding prodigious ability, political experience and military skill, and prompted by the towering ambition of gifted men who know no aim but the gratification of their own aspirations,—and no law but that of their own desires,—has undertaken deliberately the destruction and annihilation of the American Republic. It aims distinctly at the extinction of Popular Government. It rebels, not against any particular law or any specific Administration,—but against the principle which lies at the basis of all free government, without which a government of the people is impossible,—the principle that the majority must rule. It seeks to override and overthrow this principle by destroying the Government which embodies it,—and to erect upon its ruins a Military Despotism, embracing no more of the forms of Freedom than may be necessary to command the assent of its subjects.

This conspiracy must not only be checked—it must be killed. It is not enough that the Government defend itself for the moment from its murderous assault; it is not enough that Washington is safe—that the President can sit unmolested in the White House—or even that, by the tolerance and permission of Maryland, American citizens and American soldiers can have access to the Capital. The rightful authority of the Government must be established. The conspiracy itself must be crushed out of existence. Whether it be met at Baltimore, at Washington, at Richmond, or at Charleston, its head must be bruised by the heel of power,—it must be trampled out of existence,—or the Government will never be worth preserving.

We have confidence that, when he is once again put into full and free communication with the heart of the American people,—when he can once more breathe their air, and think their thoughts, and share their aspirations,—the President will rise to the height of this great duty, and meet the crisis, in the spirit and with the temper which alone can carry the nation in safety through its perils.

The Free Portions of Maryland and Virginia.

One effect of the ordinance of Secession, passed by the Convention of Virginia, to be followed immediately by a similar one by Maryland, will be to transfer this question from the broad field of National to that of State politics. The territories comprising these two States are as dissimilar in soil, climate and material features and productions as are New-York and South Carolina. As a necessary consequence, a dissimilarity nearly as striking exists in the industrial and social organization of the people, occupying what may be termed the Highland and Lowland portions of them. Those of the former being composed almost entirely of freemen, while upon the Lowlands of each State the negro composes nearly one-half of the population. These people consequently are irreconcilably opposed to each other, and the moment they dissolve their ties with the Federal Government, the question of secession of one section from the other arises with tenfold force, and will, unless these States return to their allegiance, divide each of them into several distinct communities.

The eastern portions of each of these States are low and comparatively unhealthy, and unfitted for the development of the mechanic arts. Their industries are of the rudest kind, carried on chiefly by slaves. The western portions are elevated some 1,500 or 2,000 feet above the sea, giving a bracing climate, while the soil, which is fertile, is underlaid with immense deposits of all the most valuable minerals—coal, iron, copper, lead, gypsum and salt. They are grain-growing and pastoral regions, upon which the slave is as much out of place as he would be upon the soil of Massachusetts or Canada. The few that are found there exist only by accident. In Western Virginia, and upon one-half of the whole area of the State, there are less than 25,000 slaves, to 450,000 whites, or only about six per cent. of the whole population. The slave interest is so small that it does not blind the minds of the people to every other industry or pursuit than the breeding and working of negroes. These people will understand that their resources can be developed only by free labor—that slaves are a clog upon their progress. They did not increase them for the last decade, while the increase of the white population was fully twenty-five per cent.

In the differences described, every one will see that secession in Virginia is only just commenced. If the State secedes from the General Government on the ground of irreconcilable differences, the different sections must immediately commence seceding from each other, on account of differences far more striking and irreconcilable. The first division will be the West from the East, upon the line dividing the waters flowing into the Ohio from those flowing into the Atlantic. Then will come up the minor divisions of district from district, of county from county, and town from town. The logical result of secession on a grand scale was well put by Mr. Douglas in his speech at Wheeling a few days ago. "Admit the premises, and where are we to end?" asks Mr. Douglas. "Nowhere short of anarchy, in which each man secedes from his neighbor, and from all law and order," was his reply. It is from its necessary results that Mr. Douglas denounced the hydra-headed monster in the most unmeasured terms.

If Western Virginia secedes from Eastern, as she is sure to do, with her secedes the strength of the State, which is to be found among her hardy highland population. Eastern Virginia has a population of one-half negroes. As a necessary corollary, the greater portion of the whites are a poor, ignorant and useless population. In every point of view such a population is of very little account, either in peace or war, and can, by no means, furnish a militia at all a match for the hardy, energetic, and high-minded volunteers of the North.

The first act of the General Government should be to display a proper sympathy, and afford a suitable protection for the non-slave-holding portions both of Maryland and Virginia. They are now loyal, but care should be taken that they do not become tainted with the secession virus. Let both Union men and Secessionists see the strong arm of Government, and the former would have their loyalty confirmed beyond question, and the latter awed into silence and submission. In this way, should the secession of Eastern Virginia or Maryland be accomplished, we can annex one-half of their territory to the Free States, and by far the better portions of them. Under the régime of free labor, their vast resources would immediately come into use, adding, in a few years, a greater population and wealth to the Union than that lost by the withdrawal of the sections wedded to Slavery.

A War for the Flag.

To what extent it may be necessary to make the war with the rebels aggressive will depend upon how the rebels may behave: but parents yield up their children now to fight the battles of the country—and fathers take the field, leaving behind them their wives and children—without a regret or misgiving, because they feel that they are going to a war of self-defence. The issue is no longer one of Slavery and Anti-Slavery opinion—of dissolution of the Union by consent of the People, or dismemberment at the will of an Oligarchy; but it is between the Supremacy of the Law and the Rule of a Mob—between Order and Anarchy—between a Constitutional Republic and a Military Despotism. It is indeed a war of self-defence that the loyal States are now waging for the maintenance of their Government. It is a question with them of life or death—a choice between upholding their flag and their Government, or being disgraced in the eyes of the world and blotted forever from the catalogue of nations.

In this view of the case, it is with sincere pain and regret that we have read the reports of the speeches of Mr. A. H. Stephens, on his journey, from Montgomery, and his harangue to the mob after his arrival at Richmond. No man in the country is more thoroughly committed by his antecedents to the cause of the Union than the Vice-President of the rebel Confederacy. To say nothing of his earnest and successful labors in crushing the spirit of rebellion in Georgia in 1850, it is but six months since he made one of the most able and eloquent speeches of his life in favor of the maintenance of the Union. In that speech, he plucked out the heart of this controversy. After establishing the point that there was nothing in the election of Lincoln, and nothing to be apprehended from his Administration, to justify Georgia in secession—he hinted as delicately as he could at the true cause of the existing commotions. "Some of our public men,"—he said—"have failed in their aspirations; that is true, and from that comes a great part of our troubles."

If Mr. Stephens had spoken the whole truth at that time, he would have said "from that source proceeds all our troubles." Even after the Convention of Nashville had dispersed in such ill odor with the inhabitants of that loyal City, that it would not have been difficult to have expelled them from it by a mob—after Quitman had failed ignominiously in his attempt to bring up Mississippi to the point of rebellion—after secession had been put down decidedly in Alabama, and overwhelmingly in Georgia—the secession howl was kept up through the whole administration of President Fillmore down to the time of the election of President Pierce. Then the aspirations of the secession leaders could be to some extent gratified—and they have been kept quiet, by the possession of all the offices they wanted, and all the power they could attain under a Constitutional Republic. We heard no menaces of secession during the Administration of Pierce. The traitors were content then with wielding power, and with laying their plans to be ready for the time when they should be deprived of it. To be sure, they threatened secession in the event of the election of Fremont; but Fremont was defeated, and the aspirations of "some of the public men" of the South could still be gratified, if not in person, at least by proxy. If Jefferson Davis could not obtain a seat for himself in the Cabinet of Mr. Buchanan, he could at least be heard there by his representative, Thompson. Power—plunder—opportunity—all these the "public men" referred to by Mr. Stephens enjoyed throughout the Administration of Mr. Buchanan; and for that term, therefore, we heard nothing more of the secession and rebellion which had been so rife and rampant during the exile of the State rights conspirators from power, in the times of Taylor and Fillmore.

Some other "public men" of the South, who had been less successful than Davis, Toombs, Thompson and Floyd in the solace of their aspirations, were ill-contented with this state of things, and determined to break down the machinery by which their more fortunate rivals were still kept in a state of quasi-loyalty to the Union. Rhett and Yancey were troubled in spirit when they saw Jefferson Davis making an electioneering tour on Union principles in the Northern States; and Alexander H. Stephens, on his retirement from the House of Representatives, was kept in a condition of abundant loyalty by the favorable mention of his name in connection with the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the United States. They saw that the Union could be kept together as long as the "aspirations" of Southern public men could be partially gratified by the fruition of Senatorial and Cabinet distinctions, and stimulated by the reasonable hope of Presidential and Vice-Presidential honors in the distance. Therefore, it was that the destruction of the Democratic Party was resolved upon, as the necessary prelude to the absolute loss of power by these "public men" of the South with "aspirations," and the dismemberment of the Union and establishment of a Southern Confederacy, which they knew would inevitably follow. The traitors brought about the election of Lincoln for this purpose, and Stephens, after a little manly opposition, was first dragooned into acquiescence, and then yielded to the temptations he had denounced, by the acceptance of the empty bauble of the Vice-Presidency of a Rebel Confederacy.

It is just as true to-day as it was when Mr. Stephens first made the significant announcement, that the cause of our existing troubles is that some of the public men of the South have been disappointed in their political aspirations. The attempt to represent an ignoble rebellion excited by such a cause, as a generous struggle for civil and Constitutional Liberty, can hardly have imposed even on Mr. Stephens' enthusiastic audience at Richmond. To represent it, as Mr. Stephens does, as a struggle to establish the right of the people to rule, is at least equally preposterous—for the rebels have never dared to submit their acts for the ratification of the people. To say that the States of the South did not wish a "resort to arms" after secession, is to deny that they raised an army of 13,000 men, and brought to bear all the scientific and military skill of educated renegades and traitors to take the lives of brother officers and fourscore men, whose only offence was that of honorable adherence to the flag which these miscreants had abandoned and betrayed. "No wish to resort to arms!" Whence then the hordes of armed traitors who beleaguer Fort Pickens? "No wish to resort to arms!" Whence then the threats of "Southern steel and gunpowder" with which Jefferson Davis inaugurated his Provisional Government at Montgomery? Whence then the slaughter of loyal and gallant men, in their peaceful passage through a city within the recognized Federal jurisdiction, to protect from destruction and outrage the archives of a common Government, and to maintain on the ramparts of the National Metropolis the still glorious flag of their Fathers?

To the threats of Mr. Davis' Secretary of War at Montgomery, reiterated by his Vice-President at Richmond, we can only say that it is the flag of the Union which is to float forever from the heights of Washington—that it will be maintained there, if to maintain it costs more men than the rebel States can muster in their borders, and more money than they can raise on the mortgage of all their property—fixed or moveable—ten times told. The pirates of the Confederacy will be dealt with according to the universal law of the high seas—and, instead of President Lincoln's being driven ignominiously from the Capital of the Government, where he has been placed by the people, the people will take good care to bring to their deserts the traitors and rebels—whether Presidents or Vice-Presidents—who dare to threaten them with this irretrievable disgrace.

Is Fort Monroe Secure?

We commend to the earnest attention of the authorities at Washington the Virginia correspondence of the Times. It was through this correspondence that the public were yesterday enabled to read the riddle of Virginia politics, and understand why it was that when Davis and Beauregard had promised to lead an army on Washington, only Stephens, the Vice-President and civilian, appeared at Richmond. It is now at once recognized that Virginia has not been in accord with South Carolina and the Confederate States. Many members of the Virginia Convention who voted for the Secession Ordinance, did so with the distinct understanding that Secession did not mean union with the Gulf States. And this point was readily conceded by the immediate Secessionists, in order to secure something near unanimity in the vote for Secession.

Jeff. Davis and his Cabinet know this fact, but the people of Virginia do not. All is kept from them under the seal of secrecy, except the mere fact of secession. Hence, when the people of Virginia clamored for Davis and Beauregard to lead them on to Washington, Vice-President Stephens appears in Richmond and says: "When Virginia becomes one of the Confederate States, then the Commander-in-Chief of the South will undertake the lead of her armies." Virginia, we believe, is not yet prepared for this.

The development of this political status of Virginia, only known to those who, like our correspondent, has personally observed the inside influences and workings of the Virginia revolution, renders consistent and intelligible all the events that have occurred in that State, and explodes utterly all the extravagant and absurd stories, so frequently set afloat only to be found false, of the march of Jefferson Davis and the troops of the Confederate States upon Washington.

In thus relieving a great anxiety that prevailed not only here but in Washington, we did an important public service, and feel well rewarded for our efforts to obtain reliable information. But we think we have furthermore established a claim upon the Cabinet to pay especial heed to the startling developments made by our Virginia correspondent, in to-day's paper.

Can it possibly be true that treason is daily uttered at the very portcullis of Fort Monroe—that treason can, in a moment, snuff out the lights of its harbor—and that heavy guns from Gosport Navy-yard, just seized by the Secessionists, are beginning to be landed at Hampton, whence they can be advanced to within one mile of the undefended northern and western wall of Fort Monroe? Such our correspondent, "York," avows to be the fact. And he, moreover, suggests that rifle cannon may be planted there. From that point of attack we know the wall may be pierced right through into the magazine; and a hot shot or two following, would blow up the finest fortress on the continent!

In singular and most extraordinary corroboration of our correspondent's apprehensions, the dispatches of yesterday afternoon declare that "fourteen pieces of rifled cannon of immense size, one of them weighing 10,000 pounds," have been received at Norfolk. This is since the evacuation of the Navy-yard, and these cannon cannot be intended for anything else but to pierce the wall of Fort Monroe. Will the Government allow these guns to be transported to Hampton and planted within range of the fort? Will it allow any siege works to be commenced within range of Fort Monroe, when it can so easily clear the coasts of every hostile party?

We trust to hear no more of that spurious magnanimity that "the Government will not strike first; it will wait to be struck." It is struck, the instant its power is defied; and every hour of delay thereafter is an age of imbecility and decay.

Let us have the Names of all Heroes.—Of three of the Massachusetts volunteers killed in Baltimore, the name of only one was given. The others have remained to this moment recorded as "unknown." The fact indicates a culpable negligence on the part of those in command; for evidently, if the muster-rolls were complete, it would require but a roll-call of the survivors to show who was among the killed. We beg to call the attention to this matter of those in charge of the New-York volunteers. Thousands of hearts may needlessly ache with anxiety in consequence of a failure to designate the dead by name. The sorrow of those who have really lost their friends is quite enough for the community to bear, and the universal agony of suspense need not be added.

Aid and Comfort to the Enemy.—There can be no doubt of the intention of Banks in the seceded and seceding States to flood the North with their worthless paper currency. The Police have already arrested engravers engaged in manufacturing bonds for the Confederate States. Why not prevent the same engravers from printing the bills likewise? A timely stoppage of such bank-note engraving and printing, might defeat the schemes of traitors, and save the North millions of money. The Board of Brokers should coöperate with the authorities in this matter.

Chamber of Commerce.—A special meeting of the Chamber was held Wednesday afternoon, to take into consideration the recent act of the Legislature in reference to the Committee of Arbitration of the Chamber and the amendment of the By-Laws relating thereto. Resolutions were passed accepting the law, and thanking Hon. B. F. Manierre and the Senate generally, with Speaker Littlejohn, and Messrs. Lucius Robinson, B. F. Camp, John Hardy, Jonathan Comstock, of the Assembly, for their active exertions in forwarding the passage of the measure.

IMPORTANT FROM NORFOLK.

Negotiations Between Maryland and the Secessionists of Virginia—Preparations to Besiege Fort Monroe—Treason in the Light-houses on the Part of Federal Appointees.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Portsmouth, Va., Wednesday, April 24, 1861.

The great want of the Revolutionists is small arms. It is the cry that comes up from Richmond from every part of the State, and the fact does not corroborate entirely the claims put forth in regard to the martial spirit of the people of Virginia. It looks very much as if the "piping times of peace" had led to a general neglect of military duty, and some of the new Virginia recruits will probably be quite as awkward in handling guns as they allege all Northern men to be.

As soon as the Baltimore riots occurred, deputations were sent from the Maryland Secessionists to all the Southern States asking for help, and for arms and ammunition. Virginia has no small arms to spare. North Carolina has just seized a considerable number at the Fayetteville Arsenal, but not more than the State will need. Maryland will get no help from North Carolina. Virginia can spare a portion of the cannon taken at the Navy-yard, and no doubt some will be shipped to Baltimore if the boats now running between Norfolk and Baltimore are not searched every time they pass Fort Monroe. I am amazed at the culpable carelessness of the Government in regard to the obvious duty of self-protection. It is more than a week since the State of Virginia inaugurated hostilities against the United States Government by attempting the capture of certain vessels-of-war, and the actual seizure of a revenue cutter, and the transportation from Richmond hither of cannon, with the avowed purpose of assaulting and taking the Navy-yard. Yet the commander of Fort Monroe allows the little steamers of Norfolk, that are scouring around the harbor, busy day and night in perfecting the hostile organization against the Government, to land at the dock of the fort, to put off and take on men, that do not hesitate, while they stroll around the fort, to utter imprecations against it, and insult to their faces the Volunteers who are sent here to defend it. And the Baltimore and Norfolk steamers that are officered and manned, to all appearances, by Secessionists, go in and out of the harbor, carrying, for aught we know, arms, powder and ball, back and forth between conspirators, without so much as saluting the flag of the Cumberland, whose guns could blow them to perdition in a moment. In reply to protests against this abominable and criminal leniency, the officers of fort and ship say they have no orders to do anything but defend themselves if assailed! And thus the Sumter farce is played over again.

On Sunday morning last, the morning of the fire of the Navy-yard, the draw-bridge over the creek and small bay that divides Fort Monroe from the little town of Hampton, fronting on the harbor, about three miles to the West, was permanently raised, and thus all communication with the adjacent country cut off. The reason of this precaution was, that a small body of men, say about a dozen—I walked down to the draw-bridge to see them—appeared at the further end of the bridge about daylight, Sunday morning, with muskets on their shoulders, seeking to cross to the fort. The sentry, who stands at the bridge, raised the draw and signaled the fort; and this embargo was then made permanent. Now these dozen men did not, of course, design to capture Fort Monroe. They meant to come down to the dock and take the morning steamer to Norfolk, for, seeing a great fire in that direction, they supposed a battle was raging, and they were going up to fight against the Government. It was right enough for Col. Dimick to cut off their approach. But now mark the inconsistency. Ever since the Navy-yard fell into the hands of the Secessionists, the little steamer Coffee, that plies between Hampton and Norfolk, has been making her trips regularly without examination; and it is stated by men at Fort Monroe that last night she made four trips between Norfolk and Hampton. This is impossible; she could not make so many trips. But there is one other steamer, the West Point, at Norfolk, besides two tugboats and two or more steam ferry-boats. It is not at all unlikely that four of these steamboats were engaged last night in bringing heavy Dahlgren guns and Columbiads, mortars, powder, shot and shell from Norfolk to Hampton. From Hampton these guns can be advanced easily to within one mile of the western wall of Fort Monroe, quite near enough to breach it; and on this side, which is the land side of the fort, there are no casemates, and besieging cannon can only be replied to by guns en barbette. There are fifteen hundred guns at the Navy Yard, and with all the Norfolk steam craft quietly at work of nights, how long will it require to transfer a sufficient number of guns to Hampton, to invest Monroe as completely as Sumter was invested? The rifled cannon, used so effectively at Charleston, can, within three days be also in position to assail Monroe on its weakest side, if this stupendous fatuity of the Government be not ended. The Cumberland should be ordered to lie up in front of Hampton, and raze it to the ground, if every gun already taken there, be not instantly surrendered and removed to Fort Monroe.

One other fact of some moment, let me mention. The light-houses on Capes Henry and Charles, have been out two nights; and last night the light-boat stationed between the capes and Fort Monroe, was abandoned by the light-keeper, all the oil on board having been first poured out. A boat was sent down from the Cumberland to know why the light was not burning, and found things in this condition. Two steamers, with troops on board, were detained all night outside the bar by these interferences with the lights. Now, for the point: these light-keepers obtain their appointments at Washington, and the light-house at Fort Monroe is in the hands of a Mrs. Dewees, a slaveholder, whose two sons, who superintend the lights, are two of the most violent Secessionists I have seen in the South. I conversed, this morning, with one of them, who gloated on the prospect of seeing Monroe battered down, and swore that he would be one of the first to scale its accursed walls! He is fed by Federal bounty.

If these lines should fall under Secretary Chase's eye, I respectfully urge him to instant dismissal of these undeserving parties; and if he is at loss how to have the place filled at once, I commend to him Mr. Joseph B. Cramer, who is deputy mail agent at Old Point Comfort; a soldier who has served honorably nearly two terms of enlistment, of seven years each. The Dewees family, thinking their lives in danger, are about moving away from the light-house, and I suppose they will farm it out to some brother Secessionist, who will betray his trust whenever treachery is available. Cramer is a faithful and true man, and will keep the lights burning, though shot and shell should begin to hurtle around Fort Monroe.

It is of the utmost importance that every precaution should be taken to preserve Fort Monroe intact. It is the key of the whole controversy with Maryland and Virginia. If Virginia had forty Washington Cities captured by arms, she would give them all in exchange for Fort Monroe. And yet treachery is hatched under its walls, and creeps through its gates, and fills its light-houses, and turns night into day with machinations within reach of its guns, to secure a foothold for its destruction. Gov. Wise's presence here at this time has more reference to Fort Monroe than to any other subject of secession adventure. York.

LATER FROM THE PACIFIC.

Arrival of the Overland Express—The Catholic School Question in the California Legislature—The Oregon Gold Mines, &c.

FORT KEARNEY, Thursday, April 25.

The Pony Express passed here at 12:30 A. M.

SAN FRANCISCO, Saturday, April 13—3:40 P. M.

Arrived, 13th, steamer Golden Gate, Panama. Sailed 14th, steamer St. Louis for Panama, with 300 passengers, and $850,000 in treasure for New-York. The following cabin passengers sailed in addition to the list forwarded by the last Express:

Mrs. Fould and infant, C. F. McClune, J. W. Freely and wife, Mrs. Col. Baker, Mrs. Barnes, A. Lancey, J. H. Brown, Dr. Moore, H. L. Tucker, G. L. White, and S. Fitzgerald.

The ship Great Republic sailed for Liverpool on the 12th. The Radiant, reported grounded in San Francisco harbor, was got off unharmed, and will sail soon for England.

The ship Mary Robinson has been chartered for a general cargo for New-York.

Since the last express the trade have made free purchases of coffee, prices continuing firm and the stock well controlled at the close. Case goods, candles, spirits, wines and French goods have also received somewhat more than usual attention, and markets generally at the close of the week were in a more satisfactory condition than since the commencement of the late rains.

The weather is fine, and the roads are improving rapidly. The rivers are slowly falling. There are still considerable sales of wheat, flour and barley at the recently declared rates.

There has been but little State news since the last express started.

The Legislature has been considering the Catholic School bill, which proposes to divide the public school moneys of the State, allowing the Catholics to use a portion to establish separate schools of their own, on the ground that the present school system is essentially Protestant. 140,000 people petition for the passage of such a law, and the bill is very warmly advocated; but it can hardly pass. The prospect is that this question is to assume much importance in our State politics.

The last Pony Express, dated April 1, brings accounts of the secession movements in New-Mexico and Arizona. Californians take a lively interest in these adjoining territories, and if the General Government makes an effort to maintain authority over them, plenty of volunteers, of extreme political views, favorable to each section of the Union, will be ready to emigrate South and participate in the chances for another Kansas turmoil.

The Supreme Court has decided the act changing the trial of HORACE SMITH, for murdering the printer NEWELL, from San Francisco to Placer County, to be constitutional; so the accused will be allowed virtually to choose his own Judge and Jury.

The first of a new line of steamers to be established between San Francisco and the western ports of Mexico, is advertised to sail May 1. Several of the steamers recently sold by the Pacific Mail Company to HOLLIDAY & FLINT, are to be employed on this line alternately, if trade with Mexico opens as auspiciously as was anticipated.

Oregon dates, received per steamer, are to the 8th inst., and Victoria 4th.

The Oregon papers are filled with exciting accounts from the Nez Perce gold mines, where, it is said, there is room for 5,000 miners to make $8 to $20 per day.

About eight hundred men have passed through Portland this season for these mines.

The papers express much indignation because Congress cut down the Oregon war claim from six to less than three millions.

There is nothing of importance from Washington Territory.

The accounts from the British Columbia mines report that the miners are doing well, particularly on Rock Creek.

The Oregon pack trains were arriving every day. Collector Cox has not yet enforced the Southern Boundary Act, and allows goods to cross the line at the same rate of duty as at New Westminster.

The exploring party sent out to discover a pass across the Cascades, south of Mount Ranier, had returned without having accomplished their object.

Destructive Fire at Havana, N. Y.

ELMIRA, Friday, April 26.

A destructive fire occurred at Havana last night. The Observatory Block, owned by CHAS. COOKE, valued at $10,000, being destroyed. The printing office, two dry goods and one grocery store, a saloon and several offices, were among the places consumed. The library of the People's College, valued at $20,000, was also destroyed. Whole loss, $25,000; about $6,000 covered by insurance.

The Straits of Mackinac.

DETROIT, Thursday, April 25.

The Straits of Mackinac are open. The propellers Prairie State, Granite State and Michigan, of the Northern Transportation Company's line, and the propeller Montgomery, of Ward's line, passed down this morning from Chicago, deeply laden with grain, the first boats through. They report encountering some ice in the Straits, but say navigation may now be considered open for the season.

SEIZURE OF PLATES AND TREASURY NOTES OF THE C. S. A.—United States Deputy-Marshals BORST and HORTON, yesterday seized a large quantity of engraved plates of treasury notes and bonds of the Confederated States of America, some of which were completed, and others in process of manufacture, at the American Bank Note Company and the National Bank Note Company. The plates were of the denomination of $1,000, $500, $100 and $50. The officers of the Bank Note Company stated that they stopped printing the notes, and ceased work on the plates not yet completed, as soon as the President's proclamation was issued; but the United States authories have positive proof that they were engaged in striking off the notes as late as Sunday last.

THE GREAT BANK ROBBERY.

HERRING'S SAFE

FOILS THE BURGLARS

AND PRESERVES

$500,000.

NEW-YORK, March 27, 1861.

Messrs. Herring & Co., No. 251 Broadway

GENTLEMEN: You have already been well informed, through the columns of the daily papers, of the desperate attempt made upon our Money Vault, and the Fire and Burglar proof Safe made by you for our Bank a few years ago. Although our vault was very strongly built, and provided with heavy Doors and the best of Locks the attempt upon the Vault was successful.

The rogues succeeded in undermining the Vault by digging a tunnel some seventy feet long under the adjoining building, and terminating at the base of the Vault itself. Here they commenced their operations upon a large scale, and, after removing the front part of the heavy stone foundation, which was strongly laid in cement, they reached the large flag-stone which formed the floor of the Vault. This stone was broken by means of a Jack-screw of great power, and the interior of the Vault thus reached.

Your Safe now became the great point of attack, and bravely did it resist every effort, holding secure its entire trust (property amounting to $500,000) against all the tools and ingenuity of the burglars.

The first great aim seemed to be to drill into the safe, but although some thirty holes were made in the outer casing, the hardened iron forming the centre lining turned the point of every tool. Disappointed here, they now attempted to dissect the Safe, and endeavored to force the strong framework apart. After removing one bar, and partially cutting off another, they gave this up, and all further operations proved unavailing. Our confidence in your safe has been reassured, and we would further add, for the benefit of the public and to your credit, that had they even succeeded in getting through the outer casing or shell of the Safe, which they did not do, that three more thicknesses of metal still remained, and each of these, in our opinion, would have given them more trouble than the single one by which they were so completely foiled.

When the great resources of these burglars are considered, the opportunity to work from Saturday night to Monday morning, the great number of the best kind of tools in their possession, and the skill and ingenuity displayed, we have reason to feel proud of your Safe.

We wish you to send the large Safe purchased by us at your store, to our new Banking House in Greenwich-st., and as soon as we get moved you shall have the old one as a trophy.

S. VAN DUZER,
President N. Y. Exchange Bank.

The public are invited to call and see the above Safe, which is now on exhibition at our store.

Purify the Blood.
MOFFAT'S LIFE PILLS
AND PHŒNIX BITTERS
Cure Scrofula, Ulcers, Scurvy, or Eruptions of the Skin, and all diseases arising from impure blood. Bilious and Liver complaints, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Dyspepsia, and every kind of weakness of the digestive organs yield to their curative properties. Prepared by Dr. WM. B. MOFFAT, and for sale at his office, No. 335 Broadway; at his branch office, No. 186 Church-st., and by druggists generally.

No Cause for Wonder.—It is not marvelous that ESPENSCHEID'S Silk Dress and Soft Felt Hats have become proverbial for fineness, beauty, excellence and cheapness. He is a manufacturer of many years' standing. He sees to every department of his business personally. He is more careful about the quality of his hats than the splendor of his fixtures, and his circle of custom is constantly expanding. No hat store in the City "draws" better than No. 118 Nassau-st.

THE INDEPENDENT, IN ITS ISSUES OF the 18th and 25th inst., contains two articles headed "Jewish." There is no doubt that their malicious nature must bring every intelligent reader to the conclusion that they have been written by an apostate. C. Carn, of the German Hebrews, waited upon the editors of the Independent and received from them the following answer, which speaks for itself:

OFFICE OF THE INDEPENDENT, April 26, 1861.

MR. LEWIS MAY—My Dear Sir: In reference to the two articles concerning which you inquire published in The Independent of April 18th and 25th, on "The Social Condition of the Jews in America," I would state that they were printed only after the repeated solicitation of the writer—himself either of Jewish faith or Jewish extraction—whose name (which he gave to me) I cannot now recall, but whose face has long been familiar to me as a writer or attaché of the Press.

After the publication of the statements made in those letters (although the letters at first were not in any degree indorsed by The Independent) I exceedingly regretted their appearance, for I have since had abundant reason to believe that they were utterly untrue, unjust, and injurious.

The same types with which they were made shall next week unmake them.

Meanwhile you may show this note to your friends and brethren, for whom, with yourself, I have a very high respect. Yours truly, will be devoted to the interest of those gallant citizens who, fired with patriotic ardor, are flocking to the standard of their country in her hour of trial—determined to sustain the Stars and Stripes at every hazard.

(Signed) THEODORE TILTON.

THE BOLD SOLDIER BOY

It will furnish the latest and most reliable news of the fast gathering sons of Freedom from every point, and will keep the anxious families of the Volunteers advised of every movement made in the ranks of the loved ones at home and abroad.

COME ONE, COME ALL!

THE BOLD SOLDIER BOY will be a very large Weekly Newspaper, and, beside giving every possible item of interest connected with the war and various regiments, it will contain the commencement of a splendid Revolutionary Story written expressly for the BOLD SOLDIER BOY, entitled

THE BELLE OF THE BAY;
OR,
THE WARNING LIGHT.

Also, a very large number of SPLENDID SCETCHES and POEMS, written expressly for the

UNION VOLUNTEER,

By a number of the very best writers in the Union, who will, from time to time, furnish us suitable articles for the glorious cause in which we are all now engaged.

A very large number of prominent military gentlemen have been engaged, and also a correspondent in every regiment that has left New-York, together with a host of other assistants well calculated to aid us. With this force we will be constantly in the receipt of information concerning our gallant volunteers, which will be received with thanks by all their friends at home.

OUR CITIZEN SOLDIERS.

The friends of our citizen soldiers desirous of supplying them with good wholesome Liquors, can obtain LEDIARD'S MORNING CALL, Bourbon Whisky Cocktail, Gin Cocktail, Brandy Cocktail, and other pure and reliable beverages in cases of one dozen bottles, at a small advance on cost price. The Morning Call formed a staple drink for the British and French troops in the Crimea; its use will prevent their liability to fever and ague, and correct the evil effects from the change of water: it is a powerful tonic, diuretic and anti-dyspeptic cordial, and should be supplied freely to the troops. Dépôt No. 37 South William-st., New-York.

MEDICAL.

PHOSPHATE OF IRON,

Prepared by LERAS, Chemist, Docteur-ès-Sciences, and Inspector of the Academy of Medicine. This newly-discovered ferruginous medicine, in a liquid state, without the flavor or smell of iron, differs from all chalybeates hitherto known; it combines the composition of the bones and the blood, and contains the iron in a liquid state. It is far more effectual in its results than pills, lozenges, or syrups, and cures very rapidly, without producing costiveness, the green sickness, loss of appetite, difficulty of digestion, weakness, pains in the stomach, nervous affections, diseases of the chest, scrofula, premature exhaustion, irregularity in the menses, the critical periods in females, the impoverishing of the blood, &c., and promotes the action of Cod Liver Oil. DEPOTS—In Paris, 7, Rue de la Feuillade; in New-York, GAUDELET & GOURS, No. 32 Platt-st.

DR. COX, AGENT FOR THE JAPAN SECRET OR FEMALE FRIEND. A most important charm to females for removing obstructions and producing monthly regulations without any inconvenience to the patient. This medicinal secret was the first discovered, prepared and administered by a very celebrated physician in Jeddo from a plant grown in Japan, and not found elsewhere, and every patient in Dr. Cox's practice, since his agency, has produced its charms. Price of the Japan Secret $3 a package, sent to any address. Caution! Married ladies are expressly requested not to use the remedy without consulting Dr. A. E. Cox personally or by letter. Ladies desiring to consult, a short interview is only necessary to acquire his mode of treatment. Consultation free. Ladies will be received at his rooms without any interruption from other patients. Dr. A. E. COX, No. 17 West Houston-st., N. Y.

DR. VAN HAMBERT'S FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS are a safe remedy for obstruction, &c., from cold or any cause. $1 per box.

Coughs, Colds, &c., cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, Rodger's Liverwort and Tar—price, $1; and Mrs. Gardner's Balsam Liverwort, 50 cents. Fever and Ague, &c., take Incia Cholugogue—$1 50. Deshler's Periodic Pills and Rowand's Tonic Mixture, $1 each.

By GUION, No. 127 Bowery, New-York.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED AND THOSE ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.—Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, has just published the 160th edition of the valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price, $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1 and addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City. For sale at No. 1 Vesey-st., (Astor House,) and No. 16 Ann-st.

ATTENTION COMPANY!—THOUSANDS ARE now leaving our midst to fight under the good old "Stars and Stripes," who absolutely require TRUSSES. We are therefore induced to reduce the price of our PATENT LEVER TRUSSES 25 per cent. to Volunteers who require them. These Trusses are now used in the French and British Armies with great satisfaction. They are light, durable and easy; can be worn lying down as well as standing. GREGORY & CO., sole proprietors of "White's Patent Lever Trusses," No. 25 Bond-st., New-York.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S great Benefactor, the greatest periodical remedy ever discovered. Infallible for the immediate removal of obstruction. Office No. 12 Laight-st., corner Canal, where Dr. WARD is consulted confidentially day or evening.

CONSULT DR. WARD, NO. 12 LAIGHT-st., corner Canal-st.—Dr. WARD'S Unfortunate's Friend and other great remedies are the unfailing reliance. Dr. WARD'S Balm Gilead cures impotence, nervous disorders, spermatorrhœa. No interruption to business by his treatment. Open till 10 P. M.

CATARRH.—THE VICTIMS OF THIS MALADY must remember that the only positive cure for it is prepared by Dr. GOODALE, and to be had, with directions for using, at No. 612 Broadway, New-York.

HUNDREDS OF THE UNFORTUNATE are disappointed of a cure by not calling on Dr. HUNTER at first. The Hunterian Dispensary, No. 3 Division-st., New-York City, established in 1834, for the Preservation of Human Life. PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—Dr. Hunter has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting or sickening effects of all other remedies; cures, in new cases, in less than six hours. It roots out the poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb, unless this remedy is used. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for nothing, that treats of the evil effects of early abuse and indulgence; is embellished with elaborate colored engravings, portraying every feature and phase of disease; exposes the fallacy of the ordinary modes adopted for the cure of local as well as hereditary maladies, and gives the only safe and infallible remedy for expunging every trace of the virus from the system.

HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINES.

HUMPHREYS' SPECIFIC
HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINES.
No. 648 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK.

These invaluable medicines are the result of the learning, experience and skill of Prof. HUMPHREYS, and are unsurpassed for their SIMPLICITY, SAFETY AND CURATIVE ENERGY.

Thousands of families use them daily, with the most triumphant success, for all the common ills and sicknesses of every day life, avoiding by their use the visits of both disease and doctor. Thousands of invalids, by the use of some one of these simple remedies, have been cured of life-long pains and suffering. Nowhere have they been tried without having been approved, and their highest praise is from those who have known them longest and most intimately.

Observe the statements. Physicians say Consumption is hereditary. Do not misconstrue their meaning; it has been transmitted to your children; you are to blame for excessive indulgences; it will be made evident to you at that critical age when the system undergoes a change, from 16 to 25, requiring healthy constitutions, and to yourselves from 30 to 50, when another change is manifest. Being aware of the cause of your sufferings—none will confess. The family physician yourselves may advise. Punish, aye, even tie the hands; the desire and the disease still exist. Visit our marching, and counter-marching; nothing is heard but the shrill voice of command, the jingling of swords and the rattling of bayonets. This is the drill-ground, and it is admirably calculated for that purpose. The parade-ground in front of the buildings, is fringed with a ragged edge of houses, mounted cannon, pyramids of muskets, and luxurious recruits who here enjoy their siesta. Negroes of both sexes and of all shades, lounge around with baskets temptingly laden with Maryland biscuits, gingerbread, herrings, crackers and cheese. The unpampered appetites of the recruits soon deplete these baskets of their stores. But the chief luxury of the soldier here is oysters. At Perryville, you perhaps remember, they dieted on shad. Here they confine themselves wholly to oysters. The low quay is surrounded with oyster boats. Each oysterman keeps a reasonable supply of pepper, salt and vinegar on hand; he is dexterous in the use of his knife, and the dripping bivalves are stripped of their shells to be tenderly enwrapped beneath the regimental vest. It may perhaps gratify the economical mothers of the recruits to know that their sons are not extravagant—ten cents will purchase enough oysters to stuff the body of a cannon, let alone the less capacious bore of a Christian soldier.

NEWS OF THE WAR.

The glory of the Naval Academy has departed for an indefinite time, I fear. The middies are driven from their quarters, and the great body of them go to New-York in the Constitution, which sails this afternoon or to-morrow morning. From New-York they will be distributed on different ships of the Navy. The youngsters have been brought into active duty much sooner than they anticipated on entering the Academy. Nearly 70 middies and several officers of the Academy have resigned since the secession movement begun. I am told that one from Vermont and another from Pennsylvania resigned for political reasons. They could only have been moved by the "sympathies of youth," since neither of their mother States has seceded.

The troops are lucky in being provided for within camp, since famine shakes her gaunt finger threateningly at people on the exterior. At the "City Hotel," the leading hostel of Annapolis, we were informed by the landlord that he could not muster enough edibles to furnish us with breakfast. After a pedestrian tour through the city we succeeded in finding a little cold liver and some very questionable hash.

You should have heard our landlady declaim against the Northerners the while that we ate. She hoped that our fleets would sink and the soldiers die. She only wished she was a man, that she could lead on the Southern army to the demolition of those long-legged cowards. Her negress went down to carry some meat ordered by the soldiers—which the good lady took care should be well nigh raw—and was gone rather longer than comported with her mistress' ideas of necessity. She attempted to excuse herself by saying she had to wait for the dishes. "Get up stairs, you black slut!" shouted the virago. "I'll give you something to remember for six months; I'll whip you for four hours by the clock."

I've not seen crinoline in such a commotion for a long while. But our landlady only expressed the prevailing sentiment of Annapolis. The inhabitants are short of provisions, and they lay all the fault at the door of the Northeners—confounding cause and effect. Not a Union flag can be seen in Annapolis, and I have not found a man who dare express himself as opposed to secession. As an instance of the feeling, a negro was selling pies to some soldiers on guard at the railroad dépôt—a couple of men approached and threatened him with the jail if he ever sold the troops another mouthful outside of their camp. Maryland is as certainly committed to secession as the water at present flowing down the Hudson River is to the ocean, and as surely will it find its way thither. It will do very well for men safe at home to talk of the strong loyal feeling in Maryland; let them travel through Maryland and express Union sentiments if they dare.

You have of course learned by telegraph that the communication with Washington is opened from this point, and that the Railroad is in the hands of the Government. All travel and freight is now subject to military dictation. This incenses the Annapolis people beyond measure, but they have only their own folly to blame for it. Had they not torn up the tracks, cut the telegraph wires, and otherwise made the seizure necessary it would not have been attempted.

I have remarked upon the scarcity of provisions in this City. Will it surprise you to know that a barrel of flour has been sold as high as $20, and that the store of a fortunate provision dealer, who has just received a dozen barrels, has been beseiged by a crowd who wish to secure it in advance of his receiving the invoice thereof, offering to pay him any price that he chooses to demand. Other provisions are proportionately high. The blockade of the harbor, and the possession of the railroad by the Government, seems destined eventually to bring the people of Annapolis to a compulsory fasting, if not prayer.

The troops are to be moved on from here as fast as possible. Gen. BUTLER keeps his proposed movements discreetly muffled, but below is an accurate list of the troops received at this point, and their whereabouts.

AT WASHINGTON OR EN ROUTE THEREFOR.

The Eighth Massachusetts Regiment, 780 men, Col. MUNROE commanding; the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment, 780 men, Col. LAWRENCE; Seventh New-York Regiment, 791 men, Col. LEFFERTS; Twelfth New-York Regiment, 780 men, Col. BUTTERFIELD; Seventy-first New-York Regiment, 780 men, Col. VOSBURGH; Fourth Pennsylvania Regiment, 780 men, Col. HARTRUFT; Fifth Pennsylvania Regiment, 780 men, Col. McDOWELL; Tenth Rhode Island Regiment, 780 men, Col. BURNSIDE; First Rhode Island Battalion of Rifles, 1,000 men, Col. BURNSIDE.

RETAINED AT ANNAPOLIS.

First Massachusetts Company Light Artillery, 100 men, Major COOK; Third Massachusetts Battalion of Rifles, 246 men, Major DEVONS; Sixth New-York Regiment, 750 men, Col. PINCKNEY.

This gives an aggregate of 7,550 men who have reported here to Gen. BUTLER. This does not include several companies from Pennsylvania, which have just arrived. Nor is the end of this stream of soldiers yet. It is quite probable that it will continue to pour for a week—indeed, it will not at all surprise me to see the whole North move on to Washington, and still further South, with their families and household gods.

To illustrate to your readers the courtesy which governs naval officers, Capt. STEDMAN last night gave up his stateroom to a lady desirous of reaching Washington; this night I see he is preparing to turn himself out of house and home to benefit a lady who is desirous of reaching New-York. Lieuts. CROSBY and WHITE would be only too happy to prove their gallantry in this way, but, unfortunately, in this ill-appointed ship of theirs, they have no state-room to give up—neither has your correspondent.

While the Maryland is steaming away from the wharf, a transport is landing a park of artillery, with a detachment of men to occupy the heights opposite, which command the city of Annapolis, and whence it could be knocked into several cocked hats at an hour's notice. An iron rod will thus be held over the Secessionists to insure their good behavior. C.H.W.

TROOP STEAMERS RETURNED.

INTELLIGENCE FROM THE NEW-YORK REGIMENTS.

PARTICULARS OF THEIR TRIP TO ANNAPOLIS—NARRATIVE OF CAPT. WHITING, OF THE STEAMER COLUMBIA.

The steamship Columbia, Capt. WHITING, arrived yesterday in 29½ hours from Annapolis. Left at Annapolis the United States cutter Harriet Lane, also steamers Coatzocoalcos, Boston and the R. R. Cuyler—the latter discharging stores. Thursday, 2 P. M., off mouth of the Potomac River, passed steamers Marion, Alabama and James Adger, the latter having in tow the United States brig Perry. Off the mouth of the Rappannock River, passed a three-masted propeller, bound to Annapolis.

The large ferry-boat Maryland, from Havre de Grace, arrived at Annapolis on Thursday, 7 A. M., with naval officers and men and a good supply of guns, for the purpose, doubtless, of fortifying Annapolis.

As the Columbia was leaving, at 10 A. M., two volleys of musketry were heard. Several were also heard about three hours previous.

THE TRIP TO THE CHESAPEAKE.

The Columbia, on which our informant embarked, having taken on board Col. PINCKNEY's Division of the New-York Sixth, had been ready for sea all day, but owing to some mistake, it was not until 7 P. M. that she got under way. She had a quick run till 4 A. M. Monday, 22d, when she overhauled the Cuyler and the cutter Harriet Lane, (which last was to act as the convoy,) off Absecomb, when, according to his written instructions, Capt. WHITING slowed his engine to keep in her wake. The Baltic and Coatzacoalcos had gone on ahead to Hampton Roads. On Tuesday morning, April 23, at 8 o'clock, we entered the Chesapeake, and soon saw the Baltic and her companion, running out from the Roads, to join us. Signals to close were made from the cutter, and the five steamers were soon together, while as they approached the Baltic, the engines were all stopped, and the air was rent with cheer after cheer, and tiger after tiger, the splendid band of the Baltic playing "Hail Columbia" and "Dixie," and that of the Coatzacoalcos (which had the Rhode-Islanders) making the hearts of all mercurial with the welcome strains of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean." The day was delightful; the waters of the bay were lulled to sleep, and the ships were gaily dressed in all the bunting that could be mustered, while the regimental colors were prominently displayed; and thus we came up the noble Chesapeake, following the lead of the cutter until 10 P. M., when we anchored near the frigate Constitution, in Annapolis Roads.

The New-York Seventh and a Massachusetts Regiment were still detained here, as the railroad had been destroyed, and there was no reliable communication from Washington made public.

Wednesday, April 24, the fleet steamed into the River Severn and anchored abreast of the town, when the disembarkation of the troops and military stores was carried on throughout the day, the men forming a line on the shore and presenting a most martial appearance, while every successive reinforcement was greeted with cheers of wild enthusiasm. The Seventh marched out ten miles toward Washington. A heavy rain squall passed over in the afternoon. In the morning three propellers loaded with Eastern troops via Havre de Grace came in, and as one of them with a Massachusetts Company passed the Columbia, a military looking man at their head asked, "Is the Railroad open," and being answered "No," he replied in a determined tone, "Then we'll open it!" I do not know what there was remarkable in this, but the look of the man and the tone of his voice gave to that little sentence a power and a charm, which I shall long remember, and I called from the wheelhouse for three cheers for gallant Massachusetts. The call met a hearty response.

United States Militia, Sixth Regiment, on board the Columbia.

United States Militia, Seventy-first Regiment, on board the R. R. Cuyler.

United States Militia, Twelfth Regiment, on board the Baltic.

Rhode Island Militia, on board the Coatzacoalcos.

On the passage up the bay we discovered that the light-ship had been removed from her station off the mouth of the Potomac, and this fact, together with our not meeting the Pawnee, gave weight to the report that she had been surprised on the river and taken. It seems strange that a point so geographically important as Annapolis, should not long ago have been strongly fortified, and no time should be lost in doing so at once, for it must be our military thoroughfare to the Capital.

On Thursday morning, April 25, at 7 o'clock, the Boston came alongside of the Columbia, and having taken off the gallant Sixth, the C. got under way for New-York, preceded by the Baltic and Ariel. Just as we left Annapolis, several sharp volleys of musketry were distinctly heard, and I have no doubt that the communication to be kept open must be forced. At 1 P. M., April 25, off the mouth of the Potomac, met the steamer James Adger, with the brig Perry in tow, followed by the Alabama and Marion, on their way to Annapolis with troops and supplies. At 2 P. M. passed a large three-masted propeller off the mouth of the Rappahannock, bound up the bay with troops, and at same time saw the De Soto ahead, standing in shore to communicate with two small boats pulling out from shore, one of which had a large American flag flying. In a few moments we discovered the boats cast adrift, their crews having got on board that steamer; probably they were the crews of the captured light ships, or Union men, fleeing for their lives from "Old Virginia Shore." It is to be hoped that immediate steps will be taken to protect our transports by some heavy armed men-of-war in the Chesapeake.

On Thursday morning, just before we left Annapolis, the railroad ferry-boat Maryland arrived with several naval officers and seamen, and some heavy guns, to be used in fortifying Annapolis. The lights at Cape Henry and Charles have been extinguished, and Virginia will take her rank among the secession rebels as second only to South Carolina in her ignominy and disgrace. The Columbia reached her wharf at 4 P. M.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP BALTIC FROM ANNAPOLIS.

THE QUICKEST PASSAGE EVER MADE—INVALIDS FROM THE SEVENTH REGIMENT—IMPORTANT NEWS.

The Government dispatch steamship Baltic has just arrived from Annapolis, in the short run of twenty-nine hours, being the quickest passage ever made. She brings as passengers, Senators FOOTE and WILSON, several families who quit the place from apprehensions of an attack, and the following list of officers and soldiers of the Seventh and Twelfth Regiments, invalids and sent home:

Capt. Wm. P. Bensel, First Company, Seventh; on leave.
C. Price, Eighth Company, Seventh: pleurisy.
Wm. C. Jackson, Eighth Company, Seventh; sun-stroke.
N. C. Platt, Jr., Fourth Company, Seventh; on leave.
J. K. Giddings, Second Company, Seventh; on leave.
H. M. Fairchild, Seventh Company, Seventh; pleurisy.
Thos. Hallett, Fourth Company, Seventh; over fatigue.
J. Leavensworth, Sixth Company, Seventh; general debility.
E. Bowdain, Sixth Company, Seventh; rupture.
Aug Howe, Eighth Company, Seventh; rupture.
F. D. Mayer, Eighth Company, Seventh; rupture.
W. C. Barnes, Third Company, Seventh; dysentery.
E. H. Dennison, Eighth Company, Seventh; inflammatory rheumatism.
E. L. Wetherby, Eighth Company, Seventh; injured on the march.
Lieut. F. C. Latham, Company C, Twelfth; on leave, at his own request.
Private Evans, Company D, Twelfth; insane.
Private Vincent, Company A, Twelfth; rheumatism.
Private Heinmer, Company G, Twelfth; sun-stroke.

A NEW INCIDENT IN THE PASSAGE OF THE BALTIC.

When the boats from the Baltic landed at Fort Monroe, one of them was left at the fort under the command of Lieut. SNYDER, U. S. A., who was a passenger in the Baltic. Soon afterwards he started from the fort, having in his boat a howitzer, with two boxes of ammunition and 16 boxes of rifle cartridges. The current was so strong that the heavy-laden boat could not make the ship, and was only brought up about five miles away from her by making an anchor of a box of rifle cartridges, and she drifted into shallow water, awaiting either a change of tide or succor from the Baltic. While lying there, two horsemen came down to the beach, and after surveying the boat for a few minutes, retired and reported to a company of soldiers, who were concealed in the bushes at some distance from the beach. The horsemen returned in about half and hour, and riding into the water, flourishing their swords, hailed the boat and asked who she was and what was her business there. Lieut. SNYDER replied that it was a boat from the Baltic, with a howitzer and ammunition for that vessel. The horsemen rode off without further question, the word howitzer probably conveying the idea of sharper work than they were prepared to encounter, and Lieut. S. was unmolested during the remainder of the night. At the change of tide he made his way to the Baltic, reaching her about daylight, with the loss of one box of rifle cartridges.

ARRIVAL OF THE DE SOTO.

The steamship De Soto, Capt. JOHNSTON, arrived last night from Annapolis, Md., where she has been to convey troops for the defence of Washington. The De Soto left New-York on Monday morning, April 22d, with 650 troops of the Fifth Regiment of Massachusetts, and 120 of the Flying Artillery of Boston, and 72 horses. She went to Fort Monroe, and from there to Annapolis. The De Soto left on her return for New-York on Thursday, in company with the Baltic and Columbia. Passed the Florida, Augusta and Marion, with the brig Perry in tow, within six hours' sail of Annapolis, and at 3 P. M. same day passed the steamship Montgomery, off Smith's Point, with the Eighth Regiment of New-York on board. We found all lights out on the Virginia and Maryland shores.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARIEL.

SANDY HOOK, Friday, April 16—10.15 P. M.

The steamer Ariel is now passing this point, bound in.

THE STEAMER YANKEE GONE TO HAVRE DE GRACE.

Mr. WM. B. ASTOR, on Thursday, placed $5,000 in the hands of WM. H. ASPINWALL, to appropriate for the purpose of keeping open communication between Havre de Grace and Annapolis. In twenty-four hours' time the steamer Yankee was chartered, equipped, and dispatched upon this mission. She sailed at 11 o'clock A. M., yesterday, in command of Capt. FOX. The Yankee will convoy vessels from the Capes up the Chesapeake, and run as a dispatch steamer between Havre de Grace and Annapolis, until the route through Baltimore is reëstablished. She is armed with two long 32-pounder guns, small arms, &c.

STEAMERS CHARTERED, AND OTHERS DUE.

The steamships Augusta, Woodhull, Star of the South, Kearney, Florida, Crowell, of S. L. MITCHILL's line of Savannah steamers, are chartered by the United States and are ready. The Roanoke took on board 800 barrels bread. The Thomas Swann, Patapsco and Locust Point lay at the foot of Vestry-street, and probably will be chartered.

The steamships R. R. Culyer and Ariel will probably be here to-night or early in the morning. The latter stopped at Fort Monroe for orders.

VESSELS UNDER CHARTER FOR THE SOUTH

The steam gun-boat Monticello, Capt. GAGER, left the Navy yard Thursday, as an escort to steamers Parkersburgh and Daylight. The latter will lay off Cape May to await the appearance of the Monticello.

The steamship Mount Vernon, which arrived Thursday evening from Portland, has been chartered by the Government, and will immediately proceed to the Navy-yard, Brooklyn, and be fitted out as a gun-boat.

The steamship Roanoke has berth fitted up to accommodate about 1 500 men. She has fires banked and ready to proceed at any moment.

The schooner Mary Brewer, of Rockland, Capt. WOOD, from Wilmington, N. C., five days, with naval stores to C. B. DIBBLE, arrived this morning. Capt. W. reports a fleet of thirty sail lying at anchor at Wilmington and would not be permitted to leave. He (Capt. W.) was obliged to steal away.

THE WATCH AT THE NARROWS.

The U. S. steamer Corwin, under revenue colors, is doing valuable service in the lower bay. All vessels outward bound are boarded by her officers, and if the vessels papers are found correct, they are allowed to proceed. Occasionally it is necessary to throw a shot across the bows of a vessel, which speedily has the effect to bring them to. Officers McMANNUS and MORRIS are detailed on this service.

EFFORTS TO EVADE THE BLOCKADE.

Several parties in this City have been trying hard, within a day or two, to obtain clearances for vessels from our Custom-house, for other ports, but under circumstances which strongly suggest that they intend to run provisions into Southern ports. Mr. BARNEY is looking sharply after them.

STEAMERS ON THE WAY.

Mr. G. TWICHELL, President of the Boston and Worcester Railroad, arrived from Washington yesterday, having been engaged by the Government to aid in forwarding the mails. He came through the Potomac and by sea,—in the Keystone State. He states that the Potomac does not seem to be obstructed,—as he saw no evidence of hostile batteries at any point. On Thursday, at 11 A. M., they met, off Rappahannock Point, about 175 miles from Washington, the James Adger with the Sixty-ninth N. Y. Regiment, together with the Alabama and Marion, and the United States brig Perry. They stopped, and the Keystone State gave them notise of the destruction of the lights at the entrance of the Potomac. At 1 P. M. on the same day, they met the propeller Montgomery, going with the Eighth New-York Regiment to Annapolis. They stopped and boarded her off Wolf-Trap light. At 4½ o'clock they met the Philadelphia ice-boats, loaded with troops. No mails had been received at Washington from north of Baltimore since Friday of last week.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS AT WASHINGTON.

A dispatch received by Mr. STETSON, of the Astor House, states that the Seventh Regiment arrived in Washington on Thursday, at 12 o'clock noon. The Eighth, Massachusetts Regiment, arrived at 4 o'clock P. M. The Rhode Island Regiment, and the Seventy-first, New-York, were at the junction, Thursday, but are undoubtedly in Washington ere this. The Sixth and Twelfth New-York Regiments had just arrived at Annapolis. Communication is complete between Annapolis and Washington. The arrival of these troops at Washington was the first positive information that the North were bestirring themselves in behalf of the Government, and produced great rejoicing.

WHAT GEN. SCOTT SAYS.

HARRISBURGH, Friday, April 26.

Gen. SCOTT assured a gentleman yesterday that Washington was safe against all present attacks.

Our informant confirms the arrival there of three New-York and the Eighth Massachusetts Regiments.

THE MAILS FOR WASHINGTON.

The following telegram was received at the New York Post-office at 1.10 P. M. yesterday:

PHILADELPHIA, April 26, 1861.

W. B. TAYLOR, Esq., Postmaster, New-York:

The route to Washington via Annapolis is now open, and we shall dispatch a train from here at daily 11½ A. M., and a line will be started daily from Annapolis to connect with our night line up, which will arrive here at about 9½ P. M. The mails can be taken by this route. S. M. FELTON,

President P., W. and B. Railroad.

LATE FROM MONTGOMERY.

Gentlemen have arrived in this City from Montgomery, whence they took their departure on Sunday last. The utmost dismay was caused by the announcement of the fact that New York City was furnishing troops to support the Federal Government. On Sunday a telegraphic dispatch was published in which the statement was made that about a hundred of the New-York Seventh Regiment had been killed at Baltimore, and the remainder taken prisoners. This piece of forgery excited the Secessionists to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, demonstrated by wild shouts and other evidences of excitement. Every Northern man was in peril, and New-Yorkers were particularly denounced. JEFF. DAVIS was in Montgomery on Sunday evening.

MOVEMENTS IN THE NORTH.

WHAT IS BEING DONE IN NEW YORK.

ALBANY, Friday, April 26.

The Board of State Officers held a meeting this morning, but nothing of general interest transpired.

Two hundred and fifty boxes of muskets were received to-day from Springfield, containing 5,020 arms, and were forwarded to the Elmira dépôt.

Thirteen additional companies were enrolled at Head-quarters to-day, making a total of 194 companies registered up to 1 o'clock to day.

Among those entered to day are ten full companies of the United Turners' Regiment of New-York. FRANZ SIGEL, an officer of experience and service in Europe, will probably be Colonel of the regiment.

Maj. PATRICK, of Seneca, is here, engaged actively aiding the Department by experience and labor.

Lieut. BAYARD, instructor of infantry tactics at West Point, has been tendered the position of Major in Col. FRED. TOWNSEND's regiment. He will accept if he can obtain leave from West Point.

Col. DELAFIELD, of the corps of Engineers, and Ex-Superintendent at West Point, has been assigned to duty on Gov. MORGAN's staff.

ALBANY, Friday, April 26.

Seven additional companies have been enrolled since 1 P. M. The terms of service required of volunteer militia is two years, unless sooner discharged. Following is the pay of volunteers: Sergeant Major, Quartermaster, Sergeant, principal musicians, Chief Bugler, $21 per month; First Sergeant of Company, $20; Corporals, $13; Buglers and Musicians, $12; Privates, $11.

The Mayor, Common Council and citizens of Buffalo have solicited the Governor to order the Sixty-fifth Regiment out for immediate service, and the Governor will comply with the request.

Judge RANSOM BALCOM, of the Supreme Court, is raising a company of volunteers, each to be six feet high and not less than one hundred and fifty pounds weight. They intend offering their services to the President for such duty as he may designate.

Binghampton appropriates $10,000 to support the families of volunteers.

BEDFORD, Friday, April 26.

A Union meeting at Bedford station this afternoon, on the occasion of raising the flag, was addressed by Senator Hall, John Jay, Rev. M. Begg, of the Episcopal Church, Rev. Mr. Ferris, Dr. Woodcock, Dr. Shores, Mr. Hart, Captain of the Bedford Company, Mr. Brown, of the Croton Falls Company, and others.

On motion of Mr. JAY, a Committee was appointed to raise a volunteer fund, to which he subscribed $1,000. The Committee were directed to report at an adjourned meeting at Bedford Village next week. Arrangements were made for a meeting of ladies, to act in concert with those of New-York to-morrow at 4 o'clock.

A large meeting will be held at Mount Kisco, also, in the town of Bedford.

OSWEGO, Friday, April 26.

Captain O'BRIEN's Company started for Elmira this morning. They are the first from here, and are sturdy working men. Thousands assembled to see them off. Three other companies are ready to leave.

At a small gathering of citizens this afternoon, $1,600 was subscribed on the spot to equip and furnish side arms for officers.

WHAT NEW-JERSEY IS DOING.

TRENTON, Friday, April 26.

A portion of the Hudson Brigade arrived here to-day, and were quartered in tents near the State Arsenal. The troops are now being furnished with clothing, and it is thought a portion will be sent off on Monday.

WHAT VERMONT IS DOING.

CASTLETON, Vt., Friday, April 26.

A great Union Meeting was held here last night. Over 10,000 persons were present. Speeches were made by P. W. HYDE, C. M. WILLARD, WILLARD CHILDE, and others. Great enthusiasm prevailed. Forty-one men enrolled themselves as members of our volunteer company. The officers of the company are as follows: Captain, JAMES HOPE; First Lieutenant, JOHN HOWE; Second Lieutenant, HENRY D. NOBLE.

DISPATCH FROM CHAMBERSBURGH.

CHAMBERSBURGH, Pa., Friday, April 26

Three regiments of State troops are here, fully armed and equipped. Others are expected to-day. It is believed that should Maryland or Virginia commence hostilities, sufficient will be sent to retake Harper's Ferry. E. F. U.

MOVEMENTS AT THE SOUTH.

WHAT MISSOURI IS DOING.

HANNIBAL, Mo., Thursday, April 25.

There is but little sympathy in Northern Missouri with the Secessionists, and reports that our railroads and other public conveyances have been, or that they are likely to be interfered with, are wholly unfounded.

ST. LOUIS, Thursday, April 25.

Considerable excitement prevailed among the merchants and steamboat men on 'Change to-day, in consequence of the reception of a dispatch from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Surveyor of this port, instructing him to grant no more clearances to boats in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. As steamboats on the Mississippi River never take out clearances, the dispatch is not understood. The Surveyor has taken no action in the matter and shipments south continue as heretofore.

The Common Council of Palmyra, Mo., have made an appropriation for a Home Guard for defence of the city.

WHAT KENTUCKY IS DOING.

LOUISVILLE, Thursday, April 25.

A proposition has been made by the Governor of Kentucky to the Governor of Ohio, that the Governors of the Border States propose to the United States Government to become arbitrators between the contending parties in the present difficulties.

WHAT TENNESSEE IS DOING.

NASHVILLE, Thursday, April 25.

The Legislature has convened in secret session. Reporters are excluded. The contents of the Governor's message are unknown.

WHAT DELAWARE IS DOING.

WILMINGTON, Del., Friday, April 26.

Gov. BURTON has issued a proclamation calling out troops to defend the Union.

CONTRABAND OF WAR.

CAIRO, Ill., Friday, April 26.

The steamer C. E. Hillman, from St. Louis to Nashville, was abandoned by its officers and crew while opposite this place, to-day. The deserted steamer was boarded by Capt. SCOTT, of the steamer Swallow, who found on board 1,000 kegs of powder, and a large quantity of other contraband goods. It is supposed that the Captain and crew of the Hillman deserted her for fear of consequences, if caught by the troops at this point.

EXPECTED ATTACK ON CAIRO, ILL.

CAIRO, ILL., Friday, April 26.

Passengers from the South report that troops are being raised at Memphis, Randolph and other Southern ports. Their plan is to proceed by railroad to Columbus, Ky., and from there march to Cairo, attacking it from the opposite side of the river.

The steamer J. D. Perry, from St. Louis to Memphis, was brought too last night, but no contraband goods were found on her, and she was allowed to proceed.

REMOVAL OF ARMS FROM MISSOURI.

CHICAGO, Friday, April 26.

Twenty-one thousand stand of arms was removed from the arsenal, at St. Louis, last night, and taken to Springfield, in this State.

STAMPEDE OF SLAVES FROM MARYLAND.

HARRISBURGH, Friday, April 26.

It was reported that an attack was made by Marylander, on Hanover Village, York County, on Tuesday last, occasioned by a great stampede of negroes. Reliable accounts say that whole families are crossing into Adams, York and Franklin Counties, in this State. A report places the total loss of slaves by Maryland, since the troubles begun, at five hundred. Great fears are entertained in the Border Counties of Maryland, of the departure of the entire slave population.

RESCUE OF A SHIPWRECKED CREW.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM THE PRESS GANG—BRITISH SUBJECTS IN JAIL.

The following are the names of two boats' crew picked up at sea by steamship De Soto, off Dividing Creek, Va., Thursday, April 25, 1861, belonging to schooner T. O. Thompson, wrecked on Bluff Point, Va., April 9. They were notified to leave within two hours, or take the oath to fight for the South. They escaped in open boats, and were only out a few hours when discovered by Capt. JOHNSTON, of the De Soto. Two of their men are in jail at Lancaster, Va., and were told that they should be starved to death unless they took the oath to fight for the South. They are British subjects, belonging in Novia Scotia:

The names of the men are Isaac Adams, Captain; John Segenley, Mate; Wm. Hammond, Steward; H. Small, Seaman; A. Colson, do.; D. Selley, do.; D. E. Davis, do., all of schooner T. O. Thompson, belonging in Maine.

The rest of the men were from Maine, and were chopping wood in Virginia, and escaped in a small boat, as follows: D. Pittingill, J. Brady, Thomas Neil, Charles Higgins, M. Mosser, C. Hunt, L. Jewett, H. Douglass, W. Pullen. The men in jail are William Booby and Walter Scott.

LIBERALITY OF THE ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY.

Mr. HOEY, Superintendent of Adams Express, has offered, in behalf of the Company he represents, to carry all the lint and bandages made by the Ladies' Associations of New-York, to the different regiments stationed at Washington. A note addressed to Mr. HOEY, at Adams Express Company Office, will cause a wagon to be sent to any residence or place where lint is prepared.

The Adams Express Company are in receipt of fourteen or fifteen hundred letters daily for the regiments stationed in Washington, which, in all cases, are delivered, as usual, ahead of the mail—and free at that. What more can be desired by the many friends and relatives of the men stationed in Washington.

Passengers Arrived.
